PAIR FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL ROOM

Dr. Watzl, Disappeared From United States Five Months
Ago In Strange
Manner

VIENNA, March 25.—As strange a story as any from fiction's pages was being unfolded by the police here today as they probed the deaths of Dr. Ernest Watzl, Austrian chemist and inventor who made a fortune in the United States and a woman identified as Mrs. Mary Horvath Mac-Granhall, of Cleveland, Ohio.

The pair were found dead in the fashionable Hotel Sacher here. Police believe Watzl shot his companion and then turned the gun on himself.
Identified By Father
The couple had registered at the hotel, which in pre-war days was the rendezvous of Austrian aristocracy, last Wednesday at Mr. and Mrs. Johann Plassak of Cleveland. Further investigation showed the woman had masqueraded as Mme. Josefa Kropel, but she was later identified, according to the police, as Mrs. MacGranhall.
The body of Dr. Watzl was identified by his father, a well-known Viennese watchmaker. He had long believed his son to be dead.

According to information here, Dr.
Watzl disappeared from Cleveland about five months ago. At the same time Mrs. MacGranhall, said to be a former model, disappeared from her home in that city. Police declared
Mrs. MacGranhall's husband previously had sued Dr. Watzl for $50,000, charging alienation of affections.

Three days ago, according to the Viennese authorities, the couple learned they were facing prosecution on charges of bigamy. Fearing arrest and scandal, it was said, they entered into a suicide agreement.

Dr. Watzl was about forty years of age and his woman companion fifteen.

New Trial Is Asked For Irene

Following their announcement of Monday morning, counsel for Irene Schroeder, Attorney Thomas W.
Dickey and Attorney Benjamin Jarrett presented a motion for a new trial on Monday afternoon, alleging eight points of error.

The verdict was against the law and against the weight of the evidence, the motion sets out. The court erred in refusing to withdraw the jury following certain remarks of Attorney Charles J. Margiotti in his closing plea, and also erred in refusing to sustain certain objections of the defense. Eight points of error are alleged in all.

The motion will be put upon the argument list and will probably be argued within the next sixty days.

They are without provisions or fuel.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—Adjournment of the London Naval Conference for six months, which has now been officially proposed by Italy, is regarded with some favor in Washington.
The interim would permit France and Italy to negotiate their individual problem of parity, which has brought the conference to the breaking point, and allow Great Britain, the United States and Japan to work out a tripartite agreement. Thus, the spectacle of complete collapse could be avoided and afford a measure of
"face saving" for all concerned.

water-logged conference craft has its

GIRL CONFESSES KILLING MOTHER

NORTH BAY, Ont., March 25.—
Mary Postern 15, who admitted, po-mother with a hatchet, was held on a charge of murder today. The girl confessed, the authorities said, that she fatally attacked her mother with

The mother's body was found in the basement of the Foster home and nearby in a pail of water police dis-

No Reason As Nation For Any Dissatisfaction With Progress—Mellon

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 25.—"We have absolutely no reason as a Nation to be dissatisfied with our present rate of progress. No Nation has yet attained equality or opportunity, but here in America. If we have not achieved that aim, we are at least well on the way to realizing it eventu-

Thus spoke Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the United States Treasury under three presidents and Pittsburgh's genial ambassador to Washington to a testimonial dinner given him by hundreds of his local friends at the Pittsburgh golf club. It was the occasion of his seventy-fifth birthday.

"The average person in this country now commands the means of comfortable subsistence to a greater extent and with less effort than ever before in this history of the world," he continued his optimistic address.
He went on to trace the rise of industry in this section of the country, stressing the way in which steel, oil, making the Pittsburgh district what it is today in the world of business and commerce.

Secretary Mellon was presented with

By action of the executive council of the county scout organization Mr.

forcing prices of the speculative aris-

United States Steel, Standard Oil

Vanadium Steel shot upward 4

United States Steel sold above 193

PITTSBURGH, March 25.—Pen-

a clearly defined battlefield on which the major action in the primaries probably can be justifiably predicted as analogous to the famous Grant pronouncement, on a different bat-

"I intend to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer," was the grim determination of the Civil War leader.

And it was evident today that Senator Joseph R. Grundy, termed by many a political patriarch yet conceded to be one of the most brilliant political strategists in Pennsylvania history, intends to "fight it out" on his line with all the power at his command.

In a cool reversal of prophecies that Grundy's candidacy, for the United

Senate Turns To Good Roads Bill

Good Roads Bill And Public Buildings Measures next For Senate

HOPE TO RELIEVE SOME UNEMPLOYMENT

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Freed of the tariff bill after seven long months the senate today turned to the enactment of good roads and public building bills as a means of relieving national unemployment.

The perennial Muscle Shoals was more the senate's "unfinished business" but administration leaders planned to lay it aside temporarily to permit action on the agricultural appropriation bill and the Elliott-Keyes public buildings bill. The farm measure carried a $75,000,000 appropriation for new federal aid roads while the other would authorize a $115,000,000 public building program throughout the country in addition to all existing projects.

The treasury department already has initiated contracts for erecting $92,000,000 worth of public buildings this calendar year. As soon as the Elliott-Keyes bill is enacted, $40,000,000 more new projects will be awarded throughout the country, with the rest of the $115,000,000 held over until the spring of 1931. This year's additional construction will include the enormous $14,000,000 new federal building in Chicago, which will be the largest postoffice in the world.

New federal buildings in San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Portland, Ore., Hartford, Conn., and Springfield, Ill., will be included too from this authorization.

GRUNDY AND LEWIS TICKET IS ASSURED OF STRONG SUPPORT

learned on reliable authority today that the powerful Mellon-Grundy-Fisher group will throw its strength behind the Grundy-Lewis ticket in the May primaries.

This action was decided upon, it is understood, at a conference of state administration leaders here late yesterday. Participating in the discussions were W. L. Mellon, Grundy, Governor John S. Fisher, Attorney General Cyrus E. Woods, Secretary of Revenue Charles Johnston, Republican State Chairman Edward Martin and A. Boyd Hamilton, of the state committee.

Support Pledged
Placing of the administration forces four-square behind the Grundy-Lewis slate foreshadows one of the bitterest pre-primary campaigns in political history. There is no gainsaying the fact that Grundy and Lewis, definitely committed, will wage an intensive contest against James J. Davis, secretary of labor, who is seeking Grundy's senatorial toga, and Francis Shunk Brown, Sr., of Philadelphia, out to win the gubernatorial post now held by Governor Fisher.

The powerful state leaders, however, did not monopolize the limelight at the conference. Considerable interest attached to the appearing of Mayor Charles Kline, of Pittsburgh. Kline made no statement to the effect that primary duty would find him directing his force from the Grundy camp but it was believed Kline would throw his strength to the Grundy-Lewis candidacy, in opposition to County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, Republican county chairman for Allegheny, who is understood to be in favor of Davis and Brown.

on sugar, lumber, cement, hides, leather and shoes and perhaps other tariff amendments vitally affecting the consumer.

The House program is expected to be decided by Speaker Longworth, Rep. Tilson of Connecticut, Republican leader; Rep. Snell of New York, chairman of the rules committee, and that committee under the program, the rules committee would report a special rule to send the bill to conference.

May Call Caucuses

Rep. Snell said his committee would bring out a rule "satisfactory to the Republicans." This was taken to indicate that if the so-called "revolt" developed, the House leaders would call a caucus to decide the party course.

The tariff bill passed the senate late yesterday, 53 to 31. Seven insurgents and seven democrats united with the administration ranks in voting for the bill, while five insurgents bolted and joined 26 Democrats in voting to kill it. The last day, after seven months of debate, was spent in predicting just what the bill would do to the American people. Administration leaders predicted it would guarantee prosperity; its foes predicted it would bankrupt the consumer by adding billions of dollars to his cost of living.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE ASSUMES DUTIES

He said that arrangements would be launched in the near future for this year's summer camp.

Mr. Horton comes to New Castle backed up by years of boys' work and association with them, not alone in Boy Scout work but in other organizations. He first entered scouting in 1912, acting as a scoutmaster of a Buffalo, N. Y. troop at the time. During that time he was scoutmaster of three different troops.

He entered boys' work professionally in 1916 in the role of director of one of the first industrial boys' clubs sponsored by the Larkin Company in Buffalo. In July of 1917, he entered the service of the United States Navy, doing convoy duty on destroyers and battleships during that period. Before leaving the service in 1919 he was made chief mate with an unlimited license in the merchant marine.

After returning from service on the high seas he turned to sea scout work, serving at the time as assistant to James A. Wilder, the founder of sea scouting and known far and wide by followers of Boy Scout activities. He served Mr. Wilder for a year and a half and then accepted the offer of the Portsmouth, Va., council to be its chief executive.

Another call came to him from the Eastern council in 1924 requesting him to assume responsibility for scout work in that city. He accepted although but two troops were functioning at the time and the work was in need of much revival. For the past six years he has been stationed there and from the council of two troops has grown a council with 54 active troops having an aggregate membership of about 1,000 boys.

Succeeding him in the post at Easton is Walter S. Culppeper, formerly a scoutmaster under him when he was chief executive at Portsmouth.

The great demand is for skilled men. Anybody can use a shovel on the highway job, but the three men watching him must be engineers.

CLEVELAND CHEMIST AND HIS PARAMOUR ARE DEAD IN VIENNA

years his junior. Information in the hands of the authorities here declares he had achieved considerable recognition for his work in chemistry, and that he was reputed to be wealthy.

His disappearance five months ago followed an ostensible automobile accident in Pottstown, Pa. His widow, who is still believed to be in Cleveland, informed his relatives here of his disappearance, and not long ago he was officially declared dead by the courts.

Dr. Watzl went to Cleveland two years ago to live, although he had visited that city in 1912 when the Austrian government commissioned him to do chemical research work there.

Well Arranged Plans
Letters found in the couple's hotel room gave the police clues to the tragedy. They confirmed the existence of a suicide pact, the authorities declared, and provided for disposition of the bodies.

Dr. Watzl and his companion were last seen alive on Sunday afternoon when, it is believed, they learned they were facing bigamy charges. They apparently made comprehensive preparations for suicide, arranging their effects and leaving messages to various relatives.

Hotel employees broke open the door of their room yesterday when the couple had been missed. Revelation that the dead man was the Cleveland chemist and his companion Mrs. Mary H. MacGrath, today solved the mystery surrounding the discovery of months ago of Watzl's charred automobile on a lonely road between Royersford and Pottstown, 35 miles west of this city.

Mystery Is Solved
Philadelphia, March 25.—The tragedy uncovered in a little room of a Vienna hotel by the discovery of the dead bodies of Dr. Ernest Watzl, missing Cleveland chemist, and Mrs. Mary H. MacGrath, today solved the mystery surrounding the discovery of months ago of Watzl's charred automobile on a lonely road between Royersford and Pottstown, 35 miles west of this city.

At first it was feared the missing bacteriologist had been slain, his body hurled into the waters of the Schuylkill river nearby and that his automobile had been burned to hide the crime. Check-ups with Cleveland officials and members of his family, however, led to abandonment of this theory, although no reason for his sudden and mysterious departure could be found.

Local authorities then learned Watzl had attempted to secure permission of a resident of this city to use his name in obtaining a passport.

State troopers dragged the waters of the river to satisfy the requests of Mrs. Watzl, but no traces of her missing husband were found. State and local police refused to take his disappearance seriously, expressing the opinion Dr. Watzl had sailed for a foreign country after burning his automobile to hide his whereabouts.

He was engaged in making chemical analyses for the Philadelphia Water Bureau.

To keep the papers supplied with this type of news, an army of scandal mongers are maintained in the slums of the city. One hundred and ten weekly newspapers are published in the metropolis and are devoted to news that is hardly fit to print.

Hunts for King
After supper Bertha had gone up stairs and laid down. She came down again around 10 o'clock and went out saying that she was going to look for King. She came back soon after 10 o'clock and from that time until around midnight she played solitaire with a deck of cards.

Then she went out again. While she was gone around about five minutes to 1 o'clock. On Sunday morning, March 2nd King came home. He only stayed about ten minutes and then left.

He had scarcely more than gone when Bertha returned to the house. Stark and his wife were in bed. Mrs. Stark got up in answer to a knock and admitted Bertha. Then she went to bed. Bertha asked if she could use a lamp that was in the room. Upon receiving an affirmative reply she took the lamp and went upstairs, returning shortly.

Shows Starks Gun
When she came back she came over by the bed and showed Mr. and Mrs. Stark a revolver. She said that she was going out to look for King and it was found him she was going to kill him. She did not give any reason for wanting to kill King, according to the witness.

In making her threats against King Bertha used some vile language, which the witness hesitated to repeat. When told that he must answer, he gave the remarks alleged to have been made by Bertha. This caused a laugh in the court room and brought Tipstave T. J. Hinkson to his feet to rap for order.

Bertha then called to Paul Taylor, one of the boarders, to accompany her and left the house. The next time that the witness saw her was after the shooting of John Henry King at the home of Barbara Williams. Court adjourned for lunch.

STAR LORE
GLOBULAR STAR CLUSTERS

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Globular (globe form) clusters, most noticeable in the direction of the Milky Way in the south, have been the objects of great interest during the past 15 years. They are outside the border or periphery of the flat-tended disk of the Milky Way, but are believed to be drifting into it. About 100 globular clusters have been listed. They average in number about 50,000 stars to the cluster, and a cluster averages in brilliancy about 300,000 times that of the sun. Two prominent naked eye clusters in the southern hemisphere are Omega Centauri and 47 Tucana. The former appear about the angular diameter of the moon, as seen with telescope.

JURY SEES SPOT WHERE KING MET DEATH, MARCH 2

wife, Ann Stark, on the lower floor of a house at 611-L Lutton street, said that the upper floor of their home is occupied by roomers, among them being a Mr. Treadwell, Paul Taylor, and John Henry King. Bertha Blunt had used the kitchen of the Stark home to cook for the roomers.

On Saturday evening March 1st, he said that Bertha had prepared supper for the men, but that King had not been present. When Mrs. Stark went out to a grocery store Bertha had told her to look for King. She did not see him.

Hunts for King
After supper Bertha had gone up stairs and laid down. She came down again around 10 o'clock and went out saying that she was going to look for King. She came back soon after 10 o'clock and from that time until around midnight she played solitaire with a deck of cards.

Then she went out again. While she was gone around about five minutes to 1 o'clock. On Sunday morning, March 2nd King came home. He only stayed about ten minutes and then left.

He had scarcely more than gone when Bertha returned to the house. Stark and his wife were in bed. Mrs. Stark got up in answer to a knock and admitted Bertha. Then she went to bed. Bertha asked if she could use a lamp that was in the room. Upon receiving an affirmative reply she took the lamp and went upstairs, returning shortly.

Shows Starks Gun
When she came back she came over by the bed and showed Mr. and Mrs. Stark a revolver. She said that she was going out to look for King and it was found him she was going to kill him. She did not give any reason for wanting to kill King, according to the witness.

In making her threats against King Bertha used some vile language, which the witness hesitated to repeat. When told that he must answer, he gave the remarks alleged to have been made by Bertha. This caused a laugh in the court room and brought Tipstave T. J. Hinkson to his feet to rap for order.

Bertha then called to Paul Taylor, one of the boarders, to accompany her and left the house. The next time that the witness saw her was after the shooting of John Henry King at the home of Barbara Williams. Court adjourned for lunch.

PATROLMAN ON TRIAL FOR MURDER
YOUNGSTOWN, March 25.—Patrolman M. J. Burns, driver of the police car that struck and killed John P. McLaughlin last December 5, is being tried on a charge of manslaughter. The jury has been chosen and Judge Newell of Delaware, O., who is presiding, said that the jury would be kept in seclusion throughout the trial, thus setting a precedent in Ohio.

JURY IS COMPLETED SHORTLY BEFORE NOON; FOUR MEMBERS WOMEN

one who fired the shot, he is guilty. We expect to prove by competent testimony, Dague's presence in the Butler store, his presence on the Butler road on December 27th, 1929, his ownership of a gun, and when we have proved these facts to you beyond a reasonable doubt, we will ask that the verdict be guilty of murder in the first degree and the death penalty exacted."

Jury Completed
The selection of the jury was completed at eleven o'clock today. At nine twenty Monday evening the last juror of the second panel was exhausted and Judge R. Lawrence Hill directed Sheriff Frank N. Johnston bring in thirty additional talemsmen. This the sheriff did and at nine thirty this morning the thirty were in court.

Only three jurors were needed and after careful examination upon the part of both sides, the three were accepted and sworn, the jury sworn as a body, and Attorney Pugliese opened.

View the Scene of Crime
Before the opening, District Attorney Powers asked the court to permit the jury to be taken to the scene of the murder and this was granted. The jury left the court house at one thirty and went to the Butler road, and also to Adams street where the automobile of Raymond C. Horton was stolen.

The taking of testimony was scheduled to begin about three o'clock. In many respects the testimony in the Dague case will be the same as that in the case against Irene Schroeder. Both of them were in the hold-up of Wish Angert in the Butler store, both of them were in the car that was stopped by Brady Paul, and both of them by their own admissions had guns and did some shooting on the Butler road.

Defense Plea Uncertain
Whether or not an irresistible impulse to commit crime will be argued for Dague is not known. No indication of an insanity defense has been given and his appearance at the counsel table gives him the appearance of being a normal, sane individual.

He takes part in the discussion of his counsel, looks around the courtroom not at all, and when he does look at the jury does so with a fearful expression. As he stood up this morning as the jury was sworn he stood in an "attention" position of an infantryman.

The commonwealth is just as desirous of sending Dague to the electric chair as it was to send Irene Schroeder there. The commonwealth attorneys feel that Dague's guilt is no less than Irene's, that he was part and parcel of every criminal transaction which precedes or follows the murder of Brady Paul, and nothing will be left for the erstwhile insurance agent but to hang as a felon.

Morning Session
Stella Malloy was the first taleman called from the extra panel. He said she could find defendant guilty to accomplish first shot. Excused.

Frank Mariacher of the 5th ward. Had an opinion formed. Defense passed the juror. Challenged peremptorily by the commonwealth.

Major Guy J. Wadlinger, traffic manager of the 2nd ward was called. Passed by the commonwealth. Had heard the pleas on last Friday in the Schroeder case and was excused.

Joseph E. Suber of Bell avenue was called. Had formed no opinion. Defense passed him. Commonwealth accepted him as juror No. 10.

John P. Morgan of the 8th ward had scruples against capital punishment and was excused.

George C. Hanna of the 3rd ward was passed by the defense. Commonwealth accepted him as No. 11.

Mary Krah of the 2nd ward was called. Had a fixed opinion and excused.

John La Rue, a sign painter of Hickory township was called. Challenged by commonwealth, peremptorily.

Harvey H. Pleen, a tinworker of the 6th ward was called. Challenged for cause.

Ivor V. Davis, a merchant of the 2nd ward was called. Had formed an opinion but could withhold it. Defense challenged peremptorily.

Daisy McKibben was passed by the commonwealth. The defense had used up its 20 peremptory challenges. Accepted as juror No. 12.

KING DEFIES CURSE
LUXON, Egypt, Mar. 25.—The King and Queen of Belgium defied the curse of the Pharaohs and with Howard Carter, visited the Valley of the Kings and neither feared or had any bad luck. Since the death of the twenty people that were connected with the opening of the famous tomb of King Tut, superstitions people have come to believe that anyone who touches the tomb of one of these ancient rulers will die a quick and violent death.

CURRENT EVENTS CLUBS

HEAR C. E. KNOBLOCH

An interesting meeting was held in the Y. W. C. A. parlors Monday when the Current Events of '23 and the Current Events of '06 gathered to hear C. E. Knobloch give his talk on "Cameos" that proved highly entertaining. Mrs. C. W. Mayberry presided for the afternoon.

In the presence of 30 women, Mr. Knobloch brought out his collection of many beautiful antique cameos and told of the history of each, in his pleasing manner. In passing them around the circle, he showed the fine carving and the type of carving that each bear. Many had designs of heads of famous men and women, and several held the outline of the head of the owner on it. When the history was related with each the interest of the audience was held with little effort.

The collection included an old Babylonian prayer ring, that a whole prayer was inscribed on it; a Grecian ring bearing the name of "Diana," a garnet cameo bearing an outline of a girl, a flower and a hand carved perfect; onyx cameos with the owners' heads carved on it; Italian cameos carved on Egyptian burlo and very valuable; a moonstone with the head of Queen Elizabeth's carved on it and once owned by Queen Elizabeth; several cameos set, with the bracelets and rings carved of valuable stones; an ancient Grecian seal ring carved on a blood stone and perfect in every detail; a ring once owned by Duke Boris, and the history of the Duke wearing it on his little finger at all times added to the interest of the perfectly carved article; another was a ruby sent from China by a missionary that was taken from an idol in China that has a high value; and many others that were intensely interesting. Mr. Knobloch also drew the attention to the size of the ladies' rings in those days in comparison with today. He had a collection just as they were found, that appeared rustic and worn, explaining that it didn't decrease the value of the stones. He also had another collection of the polished type, showing the difference, and how the beauty of the latter was revealed. Many questions were asked the speaker which he very capably answered and went into explanation of many.

Mrs. C. W. Mayberry gave a speech of appreciation of the opportunity that Mr. Knobloch afforded them, and also gave a brief sketch of her trip to Boston and the antiques she saw of interest.

At this time, Mrs. Charles Greer spoke to the ladies for the pleasure she had at this meeting, and also extended her words of praise for the feature of the afternoon, and promoted the idea that a museum was something New Castle needed. This was followed by a word of thanks from Mr. Knobloch, being able to give this talk and the display, and that he was much pleased to find so many in this city who are really interested in anything of this type.

The meeting adjourned, marking one of the most interesting and successful in every way.

Great Singing Cast Of "Desert Song"
Fame Will Be Seen And Heard Again In "Song Of The West"
Two Hundred Voices—Cast of 300 Dancers—Capitol Theatre, 3 Days, Commencing Thursday
In "Song of the West," the 100% natural color, singing, talking, dancing Vitaphone picture in technicolor which comes to the Capitol Theatre Thursday. Warner Bros. have a true epic, which sweeps the spectator off his feet not only by the medium of motion pictures, but by sound, by melody and singing, and by the gorgeousness of natural colors taken against the magnificent background of the great out of doors West.

"Song of the West" is a story of the westward march is in us still.
The cast of "Song of the West" includes John Boles, Vivienne Segal, Joe E. Brown, Marie Wells, Sam Hardy, Marion Byron, Eddie Gribbon, Ed Martindale, Rudolph Cameron and a chorus of one hundred voices. It is adapted by Harvey Thew from the operetta "Rainbow" by Lawrence Stallings and Oscar Hammerstein II. Ray Enright directed.

"SONG OF THE WEST"
JOHN BOLES
VIVIENNE SEGAL
JOE E. BROWN
DIRECTED BY RAY ENRIGHT
CHORUS of 100
It is an epic of color, and through it runs every moment a tremendous drama, enacted on the plains, under the stars, around camp fires, with the wagon train, and in the gambling halls of the roaring days of '49.
The singing comes naturally, just as it came to the old pioneers, who whiled away their tedious hours of march across two thousand miles of mountain and plain, and the music, by that master of melody, Vincent Youmans, who was also responsible for "Hit the Deck" and "Rio Rita," weaves a background of song and harmony that is truly representative of pioneer life.
One marches along with these pioneers and soldiers, lives with them, watches the wagon-encircled fires die out against an immensity of stars. The theatre and the screen seem to disappear, the roar and hurry of modern mechanistic life vanish—one lives in a romantic era of the past as vividly as if it were there. The picture appeals to a sense of American life that goes back to the very beginnings, because we are a race of pioneers, and something of the restlessness of the westward march is in us still.

Great Singing Cast Of "Desert Song"
Fame Will Be Seen And Heard Again In "Song Of The West"
Two Hundred Voices—Cast of 300 Dancers—Capitol Theatre, 3 Days, Commencing Thursday
In "Song of the West," the 100% natural color, singing, talking, dancing Vitaphone picture in technicolor which comes to the Capitol Theatre Thursday. Warner Bros. have a true epic, which sweeps the spectator off his feet not only by the medium of motion pictures, but by sound, by melody and singing, and by the gorgeousness of natural colors taken against the magnificent background of the great out of doors West.

"Song of the West" is a story of the westward march is in us still.
The cast of "Song of the West" includes John Boles, Vivienne Segal, Joe E. Brown, Marie Wells, Sam Hardy, Marion Byron, Eddie Gribbon, Ed Martindale, Rudolph Cameron and a chorus of one hundred voices. It is adapted by Harvey Thew from the operetta "Rainbow" by Lawrence Stallings and Oscar Hammerstein II. Ray Enright directed.

"SONG OF THE WEST"
JOHN BOLES
VIVIENNE SEGAL
JOE E. BROWN
DIRECTED BY RAY ENRIGHT
CHORUS of 100
It is an epic of color, and through it runs every moment a tremendous drama, enacted on the plains, under the stars, around camp fires, with the wagon train, and in the gambling halls of the roaring days of '49.
The singing comes naturally, just as it came to the old pioneers, who whiled away their tedious hours of march across two thousand miles of mountain and plain, and the music, by that master of melody, Vincent Youmans, who was also responsible for "Hit the Deck" and "Rio Rita," weaves a background of song and harmony that is truly representative of pioneer life.
One marches along with these pioneers and soldiers, lives with them, watches the wagon-encircled fires die out against an immensity of stars. The theatre and the screen seem to disappear, the roar and hurry of modern mechanistic life vanish—one lives in a romantic era of the past as vividly as if it were there. The picture appeals to a sense of American life that goes back to the very beginnings, because we are a race of pioneers, and something of the restlessness of the westward march is in us still.

YOUTH FINDS A PLANET

EVER since man acquired the fifth sense of wonder he has been interested in and speculated about the stars. Astronomy is the oldest science and is probably as old as religion itself, as it is not strange that youth inherits an interest in the wonders of the heavens.

Clyde Tombaugh was a boy who carried this interest farther than the "Twinkle, twinkle little star, how I wonder what you are" stage. He decided to find out for himself and became a student of astronomy.

While photographing the interstellar spaces with a telescope at the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., he caught on a photographic plate for the first time a new speck of light that subsequent astronomical calculations proved to be the "Planet X" which astronomers for 25 years have known was there only through its effect on other planets. Veteran star-gazers have been trying for years to photograph that pinpoint of light, only to see a young upstart take the honor away from them.

Thus was smashed the tradition that astronomy is the playing of hoary old age and astronomical discovery only within the powers of the bearded sages of this esoteric science. This is the age of youth, if youth is serious, energetic and ambitious.

NICE AND PRETTY WAR

Memories of the destruction of the Louvain library and of the Cathedral of Rheims inspires a New York advocate of universal and perpetual peace to suggest that a special flag be adopted to mark art treasures for protection against destruction in time of war.

The sentiment and purpose behind his plan is commendable. It reflects a universal wish that armies would always respect the beautiful and the rare in buildings, books, paintings and sculpture. But few can show such naive optimism as this fellow.

How many hospitals, ambulances and field hospitals were spared during the World War because they displayed the sign of the Red Cross—a symbol the civilized world had sworn to respect and protect? Were not the towering spires of Rheims and the Louvain "flags" beseeching the invading armies to spare them and their irreplaceable contents?

The best of intentions and most solemn of vows are soon forgotten in the heat of battle and the bitterness and hatred of war. The World War demonstrated how international law and treaties can be scrapped like so much waste paper.

When nations are at war victory is the only consideration. If it takes submarine warfare, poison gas, slaughter of noncombatants, the army with its back to the wall does not stop to talk of scruples and pacts and the humanities.

THE AMERICAN MARINE GROWS

Addition of two more Leviathans to the trans-Atlantic service of the American merchant marine is definitely assured by the award to the United States Lines of mail contracts under the Jones-White act. The contract calls for the building of two new liners to cost not less than $60,000,000, which are to equal, if not exceed, both in tonnage and speed, any vessels now operating in trans-Atlantic service.

Shipping Board policy has now arranged through contracts for the advance of loans under the provisions of the Jones-White act for the construction of twenty-one new vessels of a total tonnage in excess of 231,000 tons, and for the reconditioning of ten others. Thus the American merchant marine is presently to be enriched by thirty-one new vessels able to hold their own in competition for the world's carrying trade and also fit to render service as naval auxiliaries in time of war or threat of war. The new mercantile marine, as distinguished from the war-created fleet doomed to grow obsolete in the absence of expansion, replacements and improvements, is definitely in sight. The policy of the Shipping Board and of the Jones-White act is being brilliantly vindicated thinks the Bulletin of Philadelphia. Tinkering with it as proposed in the new demand for 100 per cent American registration of every fleet seeking mail contracts is risky.

THE "CABBAGE LEAF" COMPLEX

There is a fable which tells of a hen upon whose back fell a cabbage leaf. Whereupon she rushed through the barnyard in fright, calling out that the world was coming to an end because the sky had fallen. It was thus after the stock-market crash last fall. A few people, relatively insignificant in number, were ruined. A few of that number committed suicide. Some business houses failed and others changed hands. But many people acted as if the skies had fallen.

The country has been passing through a period of business depression and unemployment. The condition is neither universal nor absolute, and yet the effect upon any number of people is that of the cabbage leaf on the nervous old hen. They can see nothing ahead but the worst. All around them the skies have fallen, and they are the very darkest and overwhelming skies.

Failure of the London conference to arrive at an immediate and satisfactory agreement on limitation of arms gave the cabbage leaf tribe an awful fright. They saw in that failure the opening gun of another war, forgetting that the spirit and state of mind which brought about the conference would not die even with final failure of the conference.

Fortunate it is that there are among us many who never say die, for whom a setback is but an inspiration for a stronger attack on the stumbling block. Hope, confidence and optimism are as essential to prosperity and progress as capital and labor.

The Way

LOUD PEDAL ON POLITICS
The kind of a United States of Europe that European countries most need is not so much a political union as an economic union. The economic walls between the nations are too high. Grain and food do not move easily enough. There is, too much emphasis on political and racial differences and not enough emphasis on industrial and economic needs. Nations of Europe ought to think more of their own good and less of their own glory. Heads of governments and political leaders ought to learn to think in terms of the common people and their needs rather than in terms of politics and political advantage.

BRAINS NEEDED
Speaking of European conditions, Poland has been in a business depression. Last year Poland had bad crops. This year crops will be too good and the price of grain too low. Bank deposits are higher than last year and still there is complaint because times are not more prosperous. Poland is only an example. There is much of the same talk all over the world. Apparently mankind in civilized countries has not learned what to do when times are good and mankind has not learned what to do when times are bad. Much time given to education. Learned professors, statisticians, forecasters, and long-headed business men tell us what's the matter with the country and the world, but nobody can fix things. We can diagnose but can't cure. Economic problems seem too great for us. Apparently we have brains enough to create prosperity but not brains enough to distribute it or make it last.

SELF RESPECT
True success is the maintenance of our own self respect—provided our judgment is such that self respect really means something. For a man to satisfy himself, at his best, is to behave properly. If we lose our self respect, we have lost everything. If we maintain it, we have maintained everything. One reason why we should read biography is to learn just what kind of biography is the success of other men. The biography of able and successful men and women is the surest guide to a thoughtful life. If we find we have lost the ability to be shocked and that there is no limit to what we are willing to do so long as we can keep from being caught, we have lost self respect. We have lost the possibility of success. We have lost everything.

I SAY—SEE?
A well known actress was asked to tell a funny story at a Player's Party recently.

"I really only have one, and have told it many times and nobody ever laughed," she replied. But she finally agreed to tell it.

"Mrs. Murphy," she began, "had a husband who was deaf and dumb, but she was extremely jealous of him. They had no electricity in their home, and the gas had been cut off for a week, due to a break in the main.

"One day Mrs. Murphy went to the corner grocery store and asked to buy a dozen boxes of matches, of the sort that flare up. The grocer was surprised.

"But, Mrs. Murphy," he said, "you bought a dozen boxes of those matches the day before yesterday. What can you be doing with so many?"

"Oh I have use for them," replied the woman. "My husband talks in his sleep."

The actress stopped. Nobody laughed. She was not surprised. Are you?

Two former well known New Castle people called on us while we were in Oakland, Cal. They were David Young and his daughter Hazel. They have been living in that place for some time and expect to make it their future home. Mr. Young is retired and his daughter is engaged in music and has a very good position. We were glad to see our old friends.

There is a form of crook who is even worse than the murderer. This is the one who would break into a dwelling with the intent to rob and murder if met with opposition. Killing such a bird while in the act is the proper punishment for him. Killing seems to be just a little bit too good for that kind. Any of those tender hearted babies who are against the death penalty would change their minds if they woke up some night and saw a murderer with a gun in his hand cautioning them to keep their faces closed while they ransacked the house.

You can tell a million-dollar movie production, it begins with stupendous settings and ends with yawns.

A great many people even right now are figuring on having a picnic the coming summer.

We have been asked several times why we write so much about California. Well, writers like Brisbane, Rogers, Bart Richards and myself write about the places we visit and the things we see. At least the three heretofore mentioned do and do it far better than we can. We sort of like to be classed with those chaps even if we have to do it ourselves. One lady told us she wished we would stay away from New Castle all the time and write letters home instead of writing this column! Omygosh!

We like the way Judge Hildebrand and Judge Chambers have been conducting the courts of Lawrence county. We have heard many comments and they are all fine and well deserved. Their positions during the past several weeks have been hard but they have gone through with duties in a manner highly satisfactory to the citizens of Lawrence county. They do not need to care much what the citizens of other places think when it comes to running their courts.

Martinez, Cal., has a population of about 8,000. The county seat and has a court house larger and better than some places in the east. It has a detention home for juveniles that looks like the senior high school in New Castle and they have a larger senior high school building than the one in New Castle. Mr. and Mrs. Miller Cameron and their sons Claude and Charles, formerly of New Castle, are located here and are doing fine. They left New Castle three years ago and lived on Myer avenue. Odd Cameron, who has been away from New Castle for over forty years is also here. He was born on Sheep Hill just as was the other 99 3-4 per cent of our family and the way they did discuss odd timers on that hill. Odd told about the old days when men went to dances were fighters and the girls had to be brave. It was the custom in those days to go to a dance and take the place over if one was not invited and throw those who were running the dance out and the enemy running things to suit themselves. Odd has not been back since he attended his last dance at Pitzer's hall at West Moravia when some of the guests were taken away in crackly wagons to the doctors in Wampun and Mahoningtown. Odd also said he had not been in church for twelve years and he has never had better health in his life. If we ever laughed any more than we did when we heard Odd telling about old time events in and around New Castle we cannot remember when it was. Many will remember Odd Cameron. The police will not molest him now if he comes back to New Castle, as those who were looking for him when he left forty years ago are all dead or gone to California. Martinez is wholly populated by working people who work in the oil works. They sure have many conveniences in their little city, and are willing to pay for their good stuff.

So far only one March 12th baby has been reported and rewarded with the $5. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cosgrove report a son born, who has been named Edwin Samuel Cosgrove. All March 12 babies must be reported before April 1 to get the $5 prize offered by the Hints and Dints man. A doctor's certificate must accompany the request for the money.

CONTRIBUTED
New Castle is his castle—Welcome sir wham.

Like the kitten white and black, the Hints and Dints man has come back, after taking a good long rest, out in the wild and wacky west.

Refrain: "Oh we thought he was a goner, but the cat came back, for he couldn't stay away."

California is full of Eucalyptus trees. The Eucalyptus was brought to this country from Australia about 75 years ago by John Hamilton of San Francisco and he planted the first Eucalyptus tree in that city and all the others have come from the seed of that tree. This tree is very quick growing and was used for firewood and for building of fences. The trees were planted closely together and made a big hedge that cattle could not get through. Many of these fences are yet to be seen but many are being either all cut down or thinned out. For the first eight years of the growth of the Eucalyptus it is a soft wood and after that it is very hard and the specimens now bear beautiful white flowers.

Most every American has heard of the "Golden Gate" of California. The way out to sea from the harbor of San Francisco is between two mountains and is not very wide. When the sun sets in the evening the coloring on the water at the point where it goes between two mountains is wonderfully beautiful and looks like gold. Hence the name "Golden Gate". All boats have to come in and go out through this narrow water way between the two mountains.

In many cities in California the merchants maintain great parking grounds for automobiles and allow their customers several hours of parking free of cost. It must be a mighty good thing for its patrons. Not a bad idea for any eastern merchant to adopt in these days of the eternal question "Where can I park without it costing me anything?" Wow! No bricks, please!

All cities in California have from a half a dozen to a dozen parks and playgrounds for adults and children. And there are always swimming pools, too. People like to locate where there is a spirit of progress. It must pay to do these things as cities are growing by leaps and bounds and all the money has to come from some other place and has to be brought by some one attracted by the city and locating there.

In California the names of many cities start with "San" or "Santa." Both mean saint, the former being masculine and the latter feminine. For example, "Santa Anna," "Santa Barbara" will be recognized as the feminine and "San Gabriel" and "San Francisco" as the masculine. The whole state is full of places named that way.

While on a trip out to San Francisco, we came to a place called Richmond. We stopped at a hotel called the Carqinez. This is the hotel in which our old friend Scott Paisley was ill in so long. A cousin of Mr. Paisley lives at this hotel, but she was not in when we were there and we were surprised when she paid us a visit at Oakland, the next day. She went East with Mr. Paisley when he left this place for home and was in New Castle for some days. She is a former New Castle girl and is well known to many people here. Her name is Margaret Paisley.

GO WEST YOUNG MAN
Hollywood.

Mr. Jacob Renz, Manager New Castle News.

My Dear Jake—

Next to our abode the First Methodist Episcopal church have built a five hundred thousand dollar church, they dedicated it on last Sunday and Matilda and I was asked to attend. It made me feel so cheery. I am going to try and describe it, on the west side they hold their church services, it has an individual seating capacity of 12 hundred people and a fifty thousand dollar organ, note, individual seats, none of the old sliding kind, on the north end is a large recreation room the children use, and on the second story one for the men. East side, five large Sunday school class rooms on the front of the building, next to the class rooms is a reception room, beautifully furnished and in the center a large patio with a fountain in the center, the carpet for all rooms cost 13 thousand dollars. This is considered to be one of the most up to date churches in the country.

The dedication services were beautiful and finely conducted after the minister gave out the cost of constructing the church and the indebtedness of same, he announced that the choir of fifty voices would sing the Hymn their own "The Sheaves", and how they gathered them in, some two hundred and fifty thousand dollars in pledges and going strong. The next hymn they sang was "Throw out the Life Line" and how they threw it out, as to the last throw, all was asked to stand up who would give five dollars and that was where Matilda and I had to stand up. After the services I had the pleasure of meeting the minister and I said to him you did wonderful, he replied not I alone it was the team work. This is a great country to do things, you do not need a college education, just bring your own. The president of the Great Southern Pacific railway started his career as a clerk in the San Bernado freight office and after 36 years of practical experience he became president.

One of my old time friends called on Matilda and me on Sunday, W. E. Waddington, he is connected with the Youngs-Marketing company, one of the above mentioned firms. We visited him at the main store, which is the finest market store in the United States, that is saying a lot, but the store will back it up, they carry a very fine line of goods and have 19 branch stores, have a force of 25 girls taking orders in the main store, in their wareroom they have a stock of 12 carloads of green coffee, they kill all their own cattle, which is the best steers, 66 percent of the beef sold here is cows, but none in Youngs Market. So you see Will is well located, our picture is finished, the ladies connected with the picture were very kind to me and assisted me greatly, the reason why Jake, a homely old man has lived where men and women were more truer and trustful to each other.

Yours,
LAWRENCE CASTLE.

Haiti Commission Receives Credit For Efficient Work

Public Believes There Is Prospect For Self-Government Though There Are Some Doubts As To Permanent Results In Democracy

For the first time in years there seems to be a conviction that Haiti is on the threshold of a period of self government, without the need of military force from this country. The achievements of the commission appointed by President Hoover are credited to apparent speed and efficiency in action.

The conclusion that the commissioners "tackled a delicate job, with much popular prejudice, and much official obstinacy," and that "the job was done and well done" is reached by the BROOKLYN EAGLE, with the added opinion that "part of the success of the negotiations has to be credited to President Hoover, whose firmness compelled the yielding of President Borno to common sense." The BUFFALO EVENING NEWS feels sure that "the course charted promises to lead to the establishment of a government capable of carrying on affairs without military assistance from the United States."

Election of a president under constitutional provision is forecast following the present selection of Eugene Roy, a popular business man, as provisional executive. Prospects for the future are weighed by the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL with the statement: "Not too much is to be hoped from the election of a constitutional president. Haiti used to elect a president every two or three years, and he last until he had emptied the treasury and a successful albeit well-nigh bloodless revolution had gotten somewhere near the capital. But at least by respecting their constitution we shall be recognizing that no good can be hoped for until we give the people a chance. We went into Haiti to halt the massacre. We halted also the exploitation of her people by foreign loans at exorbitant rates. We have made roads and built bridges. But there is always a 'but'—as a people we have given small thought to this other people. We have been so sure that what we were doing was good for these people that we have forgotten that they do not do it for themselves."

It is explained by the NEW YORK SUN that "the country is now governed nominally through the council of state, which is a legislative body with power to elect the president. But as the council is appointed by the president, its members holding office virtually at his pleasure, it is merely a mask for an actual dictatorship. A constitution adopted in 1918 continues The Sun, "provided that the council should be supplanted by a national assembly, composed of senate and chamber of deputies, to be elected by popular suffrage whenever the president deemed the time to be ripe. Borno has persistently refused to order an election." That paper concludes: "The United States will welcome early creation of responsible democratic government in Haiti. American reciversion of Haiti's financial affairs was a disagreeable necessity—all the more distasteful because it involved military intervention and occupation."

"Some errors have been committed in Haiti," according to the SAN FRANCISCO EXPRESS, "but, on the whole, the record which Americans have achieved there is creditable and should be known to the world." The Express also states as to finances: "The La Rue, financial adviser to the government, pointed out that the public debt has been cut from $12 to $8.80 per capita since 1915, and that internal revenues have increased until they form half the national income. In earlier days, Haiti relied almost entirely upon customs-collectors, the duties were high and trade often was interrupted by arbitrary levies which revolutionary leaders imposed."

"In two weeks," records the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE, "the commission learned that nothing but representative self-government would satisfy the Haitians"; that "witnesses demanded substitution of a civilian minister for the American high commissioner, a provisional regime to be followed by free election of a legislature, which should choose a president, and ultimate withdrawal of American control." The TRIBUNE concludes: "Roy is well fitted for the provisional presidency. The fact that he was chosen by the factions from among five candidates speaks volumes." The ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION declares that "in any case, instead of dictatorship in thinly disguised form, there will be a relationship between Haiti and the United States which respects the desires of the Haitians to conduct their own affairs."

"We have had a real duty in Haiti and the majority of the population has been lucky to have the protection of our marines," avers the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR, while the HAVREHILL GAZETTE thinks "this possible that the power represented by United States marines and gunboats will be necessary to place the plan successfully in operation." But if this power is necessary, it will be used for the good purpose of restoring Haiti to Haitians."

"Thanks are due the commission," advises the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, "for its arduous labors under striking difficulties. The heat has been intense and the opposition outspoken. But all's well that ends well. For the time being a peaceful adjustment has been made and it seems as if High Commissioner Russell and all the marines might soon start for home. Whether the wings of peace will long brood above the turbulent republic is another question. If they don't, we shall be back again, ready to resume our hard and thankless task."

"Mismanagement of Haitian affairs in the past few years" is charged by the CHATTANOOGA NEWS, while the PETERSBURG PROGRESS-INDEX, emphasizing the report by Gen. Russell of the marine corps that "the Haitians are unfit for self-government," and that "something like five per cent of the population can read and write," holds that "there is every reason to believe that within a short time Haitians themselves will be calling upon the government at Washington to send marines to restore order and protect life."

"What Haiti needs in the American system," asserts the BALTIMORE SUN, "is the fact of military occupation, the presence of a swarm of technical experts paid by Haiti to deprive its own ambitious citizens of opportunities and snuff at them in return for the favor, and the disguising of this system under a pretense of native self-government, based on a made-in-America constitution and administered by a generally hated puppet-president."

ON DECLINING AN INVITATION TO A MASQUERADE

Thanks, good lady, but I find Mine is an ordinary mind. To masquerading not inclined.

But ill-at-ease should I appear Dressed as a stirring buccaneer Or some swash-buckling musketeer.

My legs too scrawny are to show In velvet pants and furbelows. I'd make a silly Pierrot.

I lack the costume flair, I think. From the unusual garb I shrink. And I look horrible in pink.

Some men in uniform can strut And play the medaled general, but My coat must be of plainer cut.

No, no, dear lady, I confess I lack the utter shamelessness Of men who prance in fancy dress.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

She was I take it, a biological mother. Not especially fitted for the role, but doing the best she could. Her hair was snow white, and she had a kindly face, not particularly animated and what had happened to her in her life hadn't made any very great changes in her.

She had her two daughters with her on board a ship bound for Cuba, for a vacation. The daughters worked in New York, and this was a grand holiday.

At their table in the dining salon were two men one about forty who was devoted to the dark daughter, and a young man who hovered over the small blonde.

When the Cuban sight seeing tours began, their party was paired off with us and the girls were spooning openly with the men. Heads on their shoulders, the men with their arms about them, squeezing them fervently. Mother sat pleasantly in the back seat and looked on.

My only guess was that the men were going to marry the girls or perhaps were on their honeymoon. That idea was dispelled, however, when I heard the dark sister refer to her "boy friend."

Across from the hotel "they" stopped was the American bar k own as Sloppy Joe's. And what a break the dry cleaner gets in that place!

And after a fashion "they" came cleaners themselves, considering that there is no prohibition in Cuba. The daughters, as it happened, went to bed at night, went with their boy friends to Sloppy Joe's, as did most of the American tourists.

After nearly a week in Cuba, one night I saw the girls coming in from Sloppy's walking as if they were in a trance. Their evening clothes rumpled and pretty much devastated by the damp Cuban climate, their hair straight and their eyes fixed.

They looked like a couple of young sleep walkers. And the boy friends were none too spry. By setting their minds upon it, all four were able to stagger to the elevator and name their floors.

The next day "Mother" was in the hotel lobby and approached me with a little wistful look in her eyes.

"What you would tell me," she said, "what you think of those two men my daughters are with. They were strangers they picked me up on the street, and somehow they seem pre- worldly. I'm sort of worried."

Pool little mother! She was about eighteen or twenty years late with her worrying. The girls are probably all right, but it would be possible for girls to be a little more exclusive, maybe without hurting them "much."

THE usual fashioning marks are hidden in the seam and the beauty of the stocking immeasurably enhanced thereby. Instead of the patch effect and the two rows of fashioning points, you have a neater seam running from stocking top to tapered heel in one long unbroken line. The clear, gossamer sheer fabric is knitted in gentle curves that vanish into the seam. A slenderizing, streamline effect is achieved and the graceful contour of the leg is alluringly accented. A revelation in hosiery elegance awaits you.

Find Physical Dangers Everywhere Says Dr. Appel

"The other day a certain community was shocked to learn of a fatal automobile accident. The victim being a beautiful and popular young woman merely emphasized the fact that one does not need to be driving at a sixty-mile-an-hour pace in a motor car to be subjected to real risks from this ubiquitous invention," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"As a matter of fact, this unfortunate girl was walking to work and was knocked over and crushed by a large truck as it was rounding a street corner. Moreover, an investigation of the automobile fatalities since January 1st in the city referred to developed the next expected information that every victim had been a pedestrian.

"This fact is mentioned not so much to point out the necessity of applying the Stop, Look and Listen rule when crossing street intersections, essential as that rule is, but rather to indicate that the possibilities of bodily injury are by no means limited to riding in high speed motor cars, airplane and express trains.

"In this connection, consider accidents in the home. Four million of them were reported in the United States during 1929, of which 24,000 proved fatal. A number which is about 14,000 short of the American fatalities of the World War.

"The study of the National Safety Council on this is most illuminating. Forty per cent of a total of 28,429 cases investigated were attributed to falls—on floors, ice, over objects, off ladders, chairs, tables, benches and nearly 500 in bath tubs. Thousands of others were hurt by sharp instruments. Many others collided with inanimate objects. Burns took another huge toll. Explosives of gasoline and fireworks were the cause of another large casualty group. And hundreds of others were asphyxiated.

"Thus it appears that dangers are quite conveniently to be found at home. Therefore, it might be well to remember the following injunctions:

"1. Do not start a fire with gasoline or coal oil.

"2. Do not attempt gymnastic stunts in the home, such as standing on ladders, chairs and window sills, unless you have a firm foundation or are otherwise protected from falling.

"3. Keep your medicine chests inaccessible to children and never take any medicine yourself from a bottle in the dark.

"4. Do not start your automobile in a closed garage.

"5. Do not point a gun at anyone, even though you are sure 'it isn't loaded.'

"6. And finally, use reasonable care and caution in performing your daily chores or duties.

"Thoughtlessness kills and injures too many people in Pennsylvania at the present time. Thoughtfulness will materially remove the present deplorable rate of preventable injuries and accidental deaths. Stay out of the 4,000,000 class this year. The exercise of ordinary care will accomplish this much to be desired result."

Mortality Rate In 1929 Is Low

Lowest Death Rate In Years
Shown For All Diseases,
Except Influenza

Pennsylvania's general death rate during 1929 was 11.8 per thousand of population, the lowest on record with the exception of the year 1927, when a rate of 11.4 per thousand was established.

The showing is particularly good in view of the fact that the mortality during January of 1929 was unusually high because of the influenza epidemic. The excess in the general death rate over 1927 was due entirely to this fact.

In the death rates for specific causes, new low records were established for tuberculosis, enteritis under two years, diphtheria and railroad accidents.

The only cause of death which established a new high record was automobile accidents, with a preliminary death rate of 20.7 per 100,000 population, as compared with 19.1 in 1928. These rates are exclusive of collisions with heavier vehicles such as railway trains and street cars. If such accidents were included, the rate per 100,000 would be 22.2.

The six leading causes of death in 1929 were heart disease, including all varieties; pneumonia, including lobar pneumonia, broncho-pneumonia, and pneumonia, unspecified; nephritis, cancer and malignant tumors, cerebral hemorrhage and tuberculosis.

The death rate from influenza in 1929 was 54.2 per 100,000 population, the highest rate from this cause since 1920. Sixty per cent of this number occurred in January.

Birth And Death Rate Show County Health Is Good

Lawrence County Average Is Far Better Than Majority Of Counties In State

Mortality statistics for the state of Pennsylvania during the year of 1928 show that Lawrence county has a healthy average for the period in comparison to some other counties.

The average number of births per 1,000 of population for the entire state during the year 1928 was 20.4, the lowest in years since 1907, and only exceeded by the figure for 1929. Lawrence county's average for the period is 21.4, a little above the average.

Greene county was highest in this regard with a birth rate average of 32.2 per 1,000, while Pike county was lowest, with 13.1.

The general death rate in 1928 was 12.1 per 1,000, the rate in Lawrence county being 10.4, below the average.

Montour county had the highest rate, 21.2 per 1,000, while Forest county had the lowest, 7.4 per 1,000. Montour county's high death rate is explained as due to the fact that there is a large private hospital there.

Bradford county also had a high death rate for the same reason, while Greene county had a high death rate due to the fact that there was a single mine disaster which claimed 195 lives.

There were 61 deaths of infants under one year of age in Lawrence county, the average for the state being 72 per thousand. The maternity death rate, however, was higher, the state average being 5.8 per thousand, while Lawrence county's rate was 6.8 per thousand.

Infectious diseases of childhood, adjusted as to age, claimed 22.3 per thousand in the state, while Lawrence county's average was only 13.4 per thousand. The cancer rate in the state was 98.5 per thousand, Lawrence county's average being 97; while cardiovascular diseases claimed an average of 424 in the state and but 372 in the county.

Bremen's Record Beaten By New German Steamer

Europa Loops 36 Minutes Off Record For Crossing Atlantic

(International News Service)
BERLIN, March 25.—The North German Lloyd's official report of the Europa's time for Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose lightship was announced this morning as four days sixteen hours forty eight minutes.

This means that the Europa eclipsed the Bremen's record of last October by 36 minutes.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Passing Ambrose lightship at 5:45 o'clock this morning the North German Lloyd's new liner, the Europa, established a new record for crossing the Atlantic. From Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose lightship the time of the queen of the seas was four days, 17 hours and six minutes, bettering the record made by her sister ship, The Bremen, last October, by 18 minutes.

The total run covered a distance of 3,164 miles.

The Mammoth Europa by her speed dash across the water from east to east won the mythical "blue penant of the Atlantic," which The Bremen previously had wrested from the Cunarder Mauretania.

The Europa was scheduled to dock here shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

The Europa reached Quarantine, off Staten Island at 7:05 o'clock, beating the Bremen's best time to this point by 36 minutes. Marine experts who kept a close log on the Europa's run announced that her average speed to this point was 27.91 knots.

Captain Nicolaus Johnsen, grizzled veteran of the German merchant marine, confirmed the Europa's breaking of the Bremen's record in a wireless to his head office here. He reported that the vessel had made an average speed of approximately 28 knots compared with the 27.72 knot pace of The Bremen on her record voyage last October.

News of the Europa's mighty achievement in the face of stormy weather and consistent headwinds caused utmost satisfaction in shipping circles throughout Germany.

Peter's Adventures

BY FLORENCE VINCENT

ALL RIGHT UNTIL JACK FROST COMES

"I believe you asked, Boy, if this pool was the all-year-round home of us Dragon-Flies or if we lived here only in summer. And I say 'yes' to both these questions."

"Why, your answer does not make sense!" cried Peter. "How can you live here only in summer and all the year round, too? I may be stupid, but I don't understand you."

"That's because you know nothing about Dragon-Flies," began Dragon-Fly Number Two, but Number One interrupted.

"That's no way to talk to a guest, brother!" snapped he. "No wonder the boy doesn't understand. If you're going to do all the explaining, why don't you make yourself clear? It's like this, boy. We Dragon-Flies live here all the year round—that is, all a Dragon-Fly's year round, and yet but through the summer only. Because a Dragon-Fly's life is only one summer long. In the winter we are larvae. In the spring we are Dragon-Flies, and we fly through the summer sunshine. In the fall we die. When Jack Frost comes our gay life is all over."

"Now, that's too bad!" began Peter. But Dragon-Fly steed chuckled.

"Don't you worry your head about us!" shrilled he. "We have a good time while we are on this earth and that's more than can be said for most folks. Best a short life and a merry one!"

"Yes Sirree!" added Dragon-Fly Number Two, who seemed to be recovering from his fit of self-importance. "As brother says, we Dragon-Flies make the most of every moment. We fly, and hunt, and eat, and fight all through each sunny day. When clouds hide the face of the sun we hide our own selves in the rushes. At nightfall, home from the hunting fields, to the rushes we fly, and are rocked to sleep in a swaying cradle. Would you like to hear our Dragon-Fly song?"

Peter nodded. He remembered the victory song of the Bees, and he wondered if these insects knew anything half so pretty.

Next: "The Hunter's Song."

Hoover May Get Tariff Bill On Or About May 1

Chairman Of House Ways And Means Committee Predicts Tariff Passage By May 1

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—The new tariff bill will be presented to President Hoover for approval about May 1, Rep. Hawley (R) Oregon, chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, predicted today.

The House, he said, will send the bill to conference next week. Senate and House conferees ought to agree on disputed questions in 3 weeks, he said. Additional time will be required for final action in both houses.

"I anticipate that we can reach an agreement between the Senate and House in 3 weeks, which is half the time it took on the Fordney-McCumber bill in 1922. The task this year ought to be easier because it is not a complete revision."

The agreement will be in force for fifty years. While not an out-and-out merger, the agreement provides for pooling of the two lines' interests and resources. The pact is aimed at economy and the reduction of useless building.

The agreement was approved almost at the hour that the North German Lloyd's newest liner, the Europa, shattered all existing records for speedy trans-Atlantic steamship crossings.

Park Auto Close Against Curb

Street Car Motorman Forced To Shove Autos Or Locate Owners

Automobilists who do not park their cars close to the curb cause considerable interruption to street car movement here, according to C. C. Coulthard, local superintendent who said today that this phase of interruption is most noticeable on Long Avenue.

"Time and again motormen have had to leave their posts and either shove the car against the curb or locate the owner. There is only a clearance of seven inches when the auto is parked against the curb so automobilists can readily see," said Coulthard, "why we seek their cooperation."

MAY ADJOURN LONDON PARLEY FOR SIX MONTHS

treaty can be formulated with one power, France, virtually having deserted the conference is yet to be expected.

There remains then a three-power agreement, for which there is small chance in Washington. It would be better than nothing, administration official contend. But it is a far cry from the vision conjured up here after the famous MacDonald-Hoover conferences of last October.

Any three-power treaty of necessity would contain a clause permitting the signatories to increase their building commensurately with the French. Thus if France went ahead with the strengthening of her navy to the 724,000 tons demanded by Premier Tardieu at London it would mean that Britain would, under her traditional continental policy, build up to 1,400,000 tons. And if the United States is to have parity with England there would be no other recourse than for Washington to build, too.

This would fall the whole weight of the Hoover-MacDonald agreement on the Rapidian, and the London Conference instead of having reduced the world's great navies actually would be the agency of bigger and better navies. Hence the small relish here for a three-power treaty, with France on the outside and building according to her own plans.

The six months recess would give all concerned a breathing spell, it was pointed out today, and time to soberly reflect on the results of failing to agree at London.

Of an immediate homecoming for the American delegation was discouraged in administration circles today, notwithstanding that yesterday acting secretary of state Cotton said it was obvious that something would have to be done at London within the next week or so. The intimation was very plain that the alternative to "doing something" was to break up and come home.

The Italian proposal for a six months recess may provide a graceful exit for all concerned.

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 25.—Possibility of a full year's suspension of the London Naval Disarmament Conference loomed today as the delegates met to discuss the proposal of Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy that the parley adjourn for six months to permit France and Italy to settle their differences.

British officials were outspoken in their belief that if the proposed adjournment were taken, it would be at least a year before the five powers could be convoked into conference again.

For this reason, it is regarded as highly probable that substantial efforts will be made to reach some sort of a tentative agreement as speedily as possible. Once scattered, it is believed, they will not be so easily gathered.

Harry Dickinson and Peter Brown, both of Minersville, were badly burned.

Investigation by mine officials continued today, with the cause of the explosion believed a premature dynamite explosion which set off accumulated gas in the sixth level where the men were at work yesterday afternoon.

TO PAVE BUTLER STREET
BUTLER, Pa., Mar. 25.—At a meeting of the town council and other officials of the town, definite action was taken on the paving of Main St. from the end of South Main street to Pearl street. The state highway department has approved of the plan and have agreed to give $35,000 toward the construction of the street. A bond issue of $100,000 is contemplated by the town council and will go toward the paving of the street and other improvements. Prompt action of the council is asked by the citizens of the town.

lieved, the conference would be almost at last together again.

Meeting Is Called
Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald called a meeting of the heads of the five delegations for this afternoon, following an hour and a half's conversation with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson. It was understood the adjournment proposal was discussed in detail.

Should the adjournment procedure be adopted, it is likely the British, American and Japanese delegates would formulate a three-power agreement immediately. This, however, would not be signed until it had been converted into a five power pact to include France and Italy. If a tripartite pact were completed immediately and signed, it is feared the chances of getting France and Italy into it would be practically nil.

Latest reports from Tokyo indicate the Japanese foreign office has overruled the navy department's insistence that counter-proposals be made to the Japanese-American compromise. It now appears the Japanese reply will accept the compromise practically as it stands.

Louis Dumesnil, French navy minister, today gave the American delegation assurance that France is anxious to complete a five-power pact if humanly possible.

France Not To Sacrifice
PARIS, March 25.—The nations of the world cannot expect France to "sacrifice her own safety upon the altar of international interest," Foreign Minister Aristide Briand told the senate today.

Announcing his intention to return to the London Disarmament Conference at the earliest opportunity, Briand told his hearers that the parley could not be expected to achieve anything more than "relative" results.

"I am returning to London in the sincere hope of the possibility of satisfying a neighbor and a friendly country," Briand said, referring to Italy's demand for naval parity. "But we must not create theoretical equalities which in reality will prove dangerous inequalities."

"We have not yet obtained what we want for France, but open conversations have not yet ceased. We still hope for a satisfactory solution for all concerned."

Mine Worker Is Killed By Blast

(International News Service) POTTSVILLE, Pa., March 25.—The second explosion within a month at the Lytle Colliery at Minersville today had caused the death of one man, probably fatally injured two and severely wounded two others.

John William Brown, 49, of Minersville, was killed; Anthony Shalinski, of New Minersville, suffered two broken legs and internal injuries, and Paul Hitowski, of Minersville, has a probably fractured back and internal injuries.

Harry Dickinson and Peter Brown, both of Minersville, were badly burned.

Investigation by mine officials continued today, with the cause of the explosion believed a premature dynamite explosion which set off accumulated gas in the sixth level where the men were at work yesterday afternoon.

In order that the exceptionally large crowd that will attend the Grove City Commercial club banquet for farmers this year may be accommodated, the committee has decided to hold the banquet in the First Presbyterian church rather than at the Penn Grove hotel. As 600 invitations were sent out, it would be impossible for the Penn Grove to handle the crowd.

The fact that W. F. Schilling, member of the Federal farm board under President Hoover will be the speaker of the evening, an opportunity will be given to have every man interested in agriculture present at the dinner on April 9th.

ROUGHAGE IN DIET NEEDED IN REDUCING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Eliminates Danger

Are you one of those who are reducing by diet? If so, there is one important thing you should know—diets that do not include roughage cause constipation, often with serious consequences. Guard against it!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains the roughage needed to insure regular elimination. It is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or your money will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily—in serious cases, with each meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is not fattening. But it does add valuable iron to the blood which helps prevent anemia (another dieting danger) and brings a glowing, healthy color to the complexion.

You can enjoy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in many delightful ways. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk, honey, sprinkled over cereals and salads, in soups and soaked in fruit juices. It is appetizing, it's cooked food. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Annual Banquet And Style Revue

Business And Professional Women's Club Have Annual Banquet In Castleton
State And National Officers
In Attendance As Speakers Of The Evening

As an aftermath of the National Week observed by the Business and Professional Women of the country came a fitting climax for the New Castle Club in the form of their annual banquet and style revue held in The Castleton, Monday evening.

The dining room of The Castleton was a bower of beauty and the tables looked as if they had come out of a dream, with their bowls of jonquils and carnations, with ferns, carrying out a color scheme of green and yellow. Clever table decorations in the form of flowers with hand painted faces supplemented the cut flowers and each place was marked with a pencil cleverly dressed to form a flower with a dainty hand painted face as a center, the menu and programs effectively carried out the color scheme.

To Miss Dunlap, vice president of the local club and her committee, Agnes Wagner, Mary Wilson, Ruth Zerner, Dr. Rogers and Eva Failer goes the credit for the beauty of the decorations. The Carnegie Steel donated the stage setting of palms and ferns.

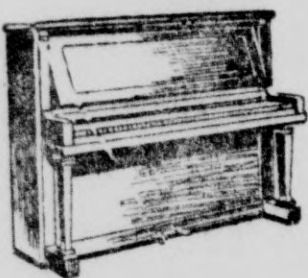

Introduces Speakers
M. Edythe Dunlap acted in the capacity of toastmistress and after greeting the assemblage introduced the president of the New Castle Club, Nancy Bechtol, who welcomed the honor guests, the members visiting from neighboring cities and the local members and guests.

The response to the greeting was given by Mrs. Helen M. Schiraff of Erie, National corresponding secretary of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs. In behalf of the attendants from Franklin, Grove City, Butler, Greenville, Sharon, Meadville and Youngstown, Mrs. Schiraff thanked New Castle club for the fine welcome they had received and paid a glowing tribute to the local club for the things they have accomplished since their organization. She stated that leadership was not alone in the president and chairman of the different committees, but each member of a club should be a leader and force ahead to the betterment of their club. She said there were four things that tended to make good leaders of each member: the ability to do things; the spirit to carry on; the personality to gain friends and the skill to direct others. She also said that co-operation and personal contacts among the members brought forth the desired results.

Club Presidents

Miss Dunlap then proceeded to introduce the different club presidents present, having each arise with the members from the different clubs they represented. Sharon, with 14 members was the largest delegation present. Mrs. Grace M. Greer, president of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's clubs spoke briefly and Mrs. Maude Williams, president of the Quota club acknowledged her introduction. There were a number of pioneer business women present, who greeted the newer business women and remarked on the change in the status of the business women of today and that of thirty to forty years ago.

Dr. Mildred Rogers was then introduced as state president of the clubs and spoke a few words of welcome and thanked the pioneer women for their presence and the help they have been to the modern women. She asked that the members have visions of better things to come, if it had not been for the visions of the older women there would have been no organization such as this; courage to go on with the things started must be men of today; confidence in the future and co-operation among the members must also be instilled.

Style Revue

At this point Miss Dunlap introduced Grace C. Browne and DeForest Mellon of Cleveland, who had charge of the old fashioned style revue and the modern versions from Italia Brothers.

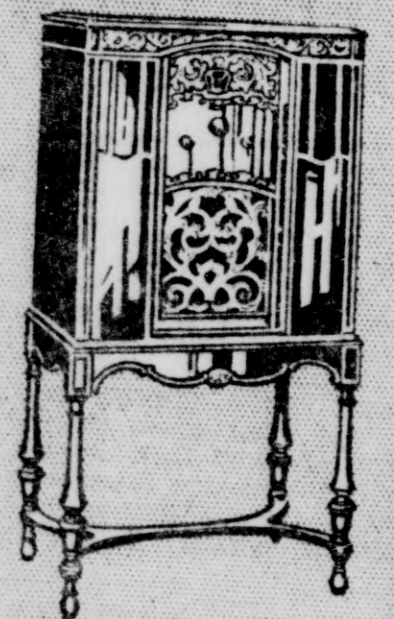

The first presentation to be shown upon the impromptu stage was a wedding gown of 1872 worn by Mrs. Ella Fenton, and the property of Mrs. H. M. Kirk. It was a gorgeous affair of heavy gray silk, with a pinched in waist, long train, puffed sleeves and yards and yards of material and fur-trimmed, the hat that completed the costume was about as large as a postage stamp and covered with small feathers, the property of Mrs. Wells Clendenin; in sharp contrast was the charming, white lace wedding gown modeled by Evelyn Pearson, the long veil and completing jewelry formed a beautiful picture. Miss Adeline Smith, Nance Pugh, Miss Wilson, Lucille Lutton, Alisan Leslie, Katharine Hite, Mrs. Irvine and Miss Glenn of the Business and Professional Women's club modeled different gowns, wraps and hats of different periods from 1872 to the modern day while as each old gown was shown a striking modern model with matching accessories was shown by the models, Evelyn Pearson, Eleanor Anderson, Mrs. E. G. Niggle, Mary Zelman and Lucille Wallace. Gowns for business, afternoon and evening in all styles for the slender miss or stout figure were modeled and some attractive and charming ensembles were shown.

Speaker Introduced
Following the style revue Miss Dunlap introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Marion McClench of

Ann Arbor, Mich., national president of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Miss McClench said in beginning how fitting it was to show a wedding gown of 1872 as the beginning of the career for a woman was to get married and if she didn't marry, she turned into the "old maid aunt," how different from the modern day when woman is found in almost every business of profession that man is in. She gave a short resume of how women gradually worked into the business world, how when children needed taught and there were not enough men to fill the teaching positions, very graciously the men asked women to join the rank of teacher, which was about the first position held by women, then gradually they entered the field in the capacity of nurses, then clerks in stores were needed and they were drafted into that, then book-keepers were needed and women were drafted into that, so on down the line, of stenographers and on through the list until now of 500 occupations listed, women are employed in all but 35 and no doubt when a new census is taken they will be found in most of these. She spoke of the different handicaps the business women of a few years ago met with, she had to be so very careful of her recreations, where she worked, her dress and things. Today the business woman has as much freedom as man, she owns her own business, drives her own car and is as capable as men in every way.

She spoke of the organization of the club and what it stands for: having an educational program, a legislative program and insists on at least a high school education for the business girl, on the best of health and a knowledge of the laws of the government and the various things that make a good citizen of the woman. A health program is being promoted with the slogan "Every Woman on the Job Every Day."

In closing Miss McClench compared the Federation of Business and Professional Women to a highway by which messages of friendliness and co-operation may be carried from one place to another throughout the world, thus promoting world peace and carrying visions of greater things to be over the broad highway of progress.

At the close of Miss McClench's talk, Nancy Bechtol, on behalf of the New Castle club, presented her with a lovely gift.

Throughout the dinner music was presented by Mrs. Elsa Emery, violinist and Mrs. Kathryn Allen, pianist. The pep singing was led by Mrs. Ruth McEwen Caldwell.

Officers of the local club include: Nancy E. Bechtol, president; Bess Gailey, vice president; Mary E. Wilson, corresponding secretary; Ruth R. Zerner, recording secretary; Naomi Raney, treasurer and Emilie Salomon, state director.

Democrats Seeking Strong Candidates For Coming Primary

Breach Within Ranks Of Republicans Gives Democrats Renewed Hope

HARRISBURG, March 25.—Democratic leaders and their cohorts throughout the state girded themselves for battle today, prepared once more to take advantage of the breach within the Republican lines, for a determined assault upon the Keystone state for the May primary.

The new gubernatorial candidate proffered by the Democrats is Captain John M. Hemphill of West Chester, an attorney and a World war veteran. Running with him in the new team is Guy K. Bard, also an attorney and World war veteran of Denver, Lancaster county.

The new candidates were selected at a caucus here yesterday—called to fill in the gaps made when Lawrence H. Rupp of Allentown chose to run for the state leadership of a lodge instead of as a gubernatorial candidate, and by the withdrawal of Col. W. C. Hamrick of Chambersburg, who had been offered the place of lieutenant-governor.

The new candidates accepted at once, and under the direction of State Democratic Chairman John R. Collins, nominating petitions were sent at a telegraph to various counties throughout the state.

The name of Judge Samuel E. Shull of Stroudsburg was before the committee, but was not adopted for the gubernatorial post when a telegram from Shull in which Shull had announced his intention not to enter the lists.

Settle Dispute Over Road Location

Mercer County Commissioners And Sandy Lake Councilmen Come To Free-

MERCER, Pa., Mar. 25.—A settlement has been made at last between the Sandy Lake Borough council and the county commissioners as to the re-location of the Sandy Lake-Grove City highway. The road will enter the borough near the residence of John Brest connecting with South Main street at a point near High street. The Winner home has been moved to the south side of Maine street, and the Gaby house has been purchased. Grading will soon be started by the contractor when the houses are moved.

JURY TO HEAR CASE
Judge James J. McLaughry has filed an opinion in the case of M. Boiotin & Sons vs. E. J. Edwards and Viola Edwards in which he directs that the judgment against the defendant be opened and the case submitted to the jury.

The action is to collect on a bill of furniture. The defendants claim that the furniture was placed in their home against their wishes, and claim they told the firm they didn't want the goods, but he told them to let them sit in it, and if they didn't like it, later they would take it back. A paper was produced for the purchase of the goods but they claim that the signature is not theirs.

NAMED ELECTION JUDGE
The court has appointed C. H. Harsh, judge of elections for Fredonia to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. P. Buchanan.

TO RAISE TAXES
Two more townships of Mercer county have been granted permission to raise their taxes by increasing their mileage for road purposes and to reduce standing debts.

Jackson township was granted a three-mill increase, and Jefferson township an increase of five-mill.

ROADS DRYING UP
The country roads are reported as being greatly improved with this weather. A short time ago the roads were impassable, and it was with great difficulty that the farmers were able to make their way into adjoining towns. With the coming of nice weather most of the townships are improving their roads so that condition can be avoided in bad weather the following year.

TO PRESENT PLAY
The High School play "Black and Blue" will be presented this week on Friday night at the high school auditorium. The play has been directed by Miss Mary Orr of the Mercer high school faculty, and the cast is composed of seniors.

Bridge Contracts Awarded By Erie

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—Contracts for the construction of two new reinforced concrete bridges and for a 2,000 ton capacity fueling station, the latter at Susquehanna, Pa., have been awarded by the Erie railroad as a part of its program for improvement of operating facilities provided for in the budget for 1930.

One of these bridges will have a length of 350 feet and will provide a double track roadway over one of the main highways at Lanesboro Pennsylvania. The other is over what is known as Canawacta creek, the two bridges serving to permit the straightening of its main line where it passes through the north-east corner of the Keystone state.

The Lanesboro bridge will consist of seven arches, the center arch, which spans the main highway, to have a length of 120 feet with its crown 44 feet over the roadway, its total height being 66 feet. On each side of the main span will be three 20 foot arches. The contract for the construction of the bridges was awarded to James S. McCormick of Easton, Pa.

Kaye Don Will Try
For Record Today

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 25.—Kaye Don, English racer, thwarted for days in his plans to establish a new automobile speed record, expected to realize his dream today. Marked improvement in the ten-mile stretch of beach caused Don to say he would be on the beach before nine o'clock this morning ready to wipe out the record made by Major H. O. D. Segrave of 231 miles an hour.

Louis Coatalen, manager of the company which built Don's car, the "Silver Bullet," announced that the huge machine had been given a final test and was ready for its run today.

"Did she bring anything back from Paris?"
"Sure. A lot of faux pas."

It has a maximum speed of 248 miles per hour. Officials, including representatives of the International Racing commission, were asked to be at the beach this morning, indicating if the beach course was in condition and the weather favorable, nothing would stop the English speed demon from racing.

Thirty Five States Wage Campaigns On Illiteracy

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Thirty five of the States of the Union today are waging aggressive campaigns on illiteracy. Twenty-six of the forty-eight States have appointed State Committees and organized drives against illiteracy, under the guidance of the National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy, appointed last November by Secretary Wilbur, with the approval of President Hoover, and now concentrating on teaching as many of their citizens as they can how to read and write before the census man comes. They are as follows: Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Iowa, and Missouri. Six other States, Kentucky, Tennessee, Massachusetts, Washington, and Utah and Nebraska, had already organized on a somewhat different basis and are carrying on campaigns. Three others are now forming the necessary organizations.

In this drive on illiteracy the Governors of the States, the State Superintendents of Education, State committees on illiteracy, County School Superintendents, and local committees, have carried the burden of work. The National Committee has laid down the general plan and furnished information and guidance.

The present drive is but an initial activity in a program that is to be carried on through the years until illiteracy in the United States is brought down to the irreducible minimum. It has already assumed such proportions as were never before reached in this field.

In Alabama

What is being done in these campaigns against illiteracy in the various States may be seen by reviewing the procedure in a few of them. In Alabama, for instance, the campaign was inaugurated by a night letter which went out from the State capitol to each county superintendent. A letter to each county and city followed. The Governor wrote calling upon each Judge of Probate in the State to join in the campaign. County superintendents called upon ministers of all denominations to participate. General suggestions from State headquarters went regularly to county and school superintendents. Each day items were given to the press and frequent talks were given over the radio.

In Maine a state illiteracy committee has been appointed and the counties in the State have been divided among its members. Each in the area assigned to him has organized the service clubs, the lodges, churches, parent-teachers associations, chambers of commerce, American Legion, women's clubs, associated industries, managers of industrial establishments, and other such agencies for a concerted drive.

In Georgia an aggressive campaign has been carried on in practically every one of the 162 counties of the State. The movement has been supported by the American Legion, luncheon clubs, and churches, all acting in cooperation with the State educational department.

In Texas

In Texas the Governor, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, President of the State Board of Education, State Commander of the American Legion, President of the States Teachers Association, and President of the Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers Association, joined in an appeal sent out to the citizens of Texas calling for "a concerted eleventh-hour effort to seek out illiterates in Texas, to teach them to read and write in the few weeks remaining before the taking of the census."

In Michigan the State Illiteracy Committee headed by the Governor and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, has sent appeals to each county superintendent to organize classes which will adequately take care of all illiterates in each county. In Montana each county superintendent has been made a member of the State Illiteracy Committee. In North Dakota a vigorous effort is being made to reach every Indian and every foreign-born illiterate. In Wyoming the State makes an annual appropriation for illiteracy work. Nevada has a "Commission on the Enrichment of Adult Life" which it has converted into its Advisory Committee on Illiteracy. Arkansas is concentrating on a "write your name" program. Connecticut has 7,677 foreign-born residents in her school for adults. Everywhere the call for a crusade against illiteracy is meeting with an overwhelming response.

National Aid

The National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy has prepared a manual for teachers which is the result of years of experience in many States, and intended to point the way toward overcoming illiteracy in the speediest possible way which it makes available to all of those who want to use it. The committee was appointed last November by Secretary Wilbur and its personnel is as follows: Dr. William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education; Senator Henry J. Allen, Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, Dr. A. Caswell Ellis, Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, Hon. T. H. Harris, Raymond B. Fosdick, Glenn Frank, Dr. John H. Finley, Dr. C. R. Mann, Dr. A. E. Winslow, Lorado Taft, Hon. Ruth Bryan Owen, John W. Abernethy, M. L. Brittain, Mrs. A. H. Reeve, Herbert S. Houston, Henry Goddard Leach, Dr. Rufus W. Weaver, Dr. Frank Cody, R. A. Nestos and Morris Legendre.

The officers of the committee are: Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, Chairman; William John Cooper, Commissioner of Education, Vice Chairman; Rufus W. Weaver, Secretary and Treasurer and Morris Legendre, Assistant Secretary and Assistant Treasurer.

The Julius Rosenwald Fund provided $15,000 for the initial expenses for the committee which is outside the Government and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has just added an additional $10,000.

When the present campaign which precedes the taking of the census is at an end the committee will settle down to a more leisurely concentration on illiterates wherever they may be. There are half a dozen elements that enter into the campaign. The white people who live in isolated regions, more particularly in the Southern Appalachian Mountains, are among the most difficult of these. The foreign element in the congested centers constitute another. There is little similarity between the problems presented by these two. The negroes are a third great problem. The Indians, wards of the Government, are another. Then there are the chance illiterates scattered by circumstance through the whole population which prevent any community from being entirely free of this problem. The theory is that the educational resources of forty-eight great, rich and powerful States should be able to carry education to all the people and the purpose of this movement is to concentrate attention on illiteracy until it disappears as an unhappy element in American civilization.

Bridge Worker Falls 90 Feet To Death

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 25.—R. A. Mitchell, 36 bridge rigger of Raleigh, N. C. was drowned when he plunged 90 feet, like a plummet, into the Ohio river. He reappeared on the surface of the water, but because of wet garments and the shock was unable to swim to shore. The body was recovered a few minutes later by bridge employees and efforts at resuscitation made.

Mitchell was employed by the American Bridge Company, Ambridge, on the new bridge across the Ohio river here. He missed his footing and fell. His death marks the fourth fatality which has occurred in connection with the building of the bridge here. Coroner H. C. McCarter gave a certificate of accidental death.

Bessemer High School Notes

The assembly last Friday was in charge of Mr. Nord. This was a St. Patrick's program, and follows: Devotional.

Song by assembly—When You And I Were Young, Maggie.

Reading, St. Patrick—Bernice Anderson.

Song—My Wild Irish Rose—By Sophomore class.

One Act Play—Three Not of a kind—Paul Swanson, Matt Afric, and Kenneth Johnson.

Orchestra—A Bunch of Shamrocks. Address—The Good Life—Dr. B. Frank White.

Announcements—Mr. Colton.

"The Hoodoo" was the dramatic presentation staged by the junior class members last Saturday evening. As a result of their success with this mystery thriller, they hope to give a mystery play again during their senior year.

The juniors received their class rings during the week, and are wearing them after many weeks of waiting.

The Sophomore boys gave a party to the girls on St. Patrick's day, Monday, March 17, in the school auditorium. Present as chaperons were Miss Mary McLaughlin, Mr. H. W. Luskanta, and Mr. G. E. Nord, members of the faculty.

Another county musical contest was held at Bessemer High School on Thursday, March 20. Contestants from Shenango, New Wilmington, Mount Jackson, East Brook, Union and Bessemer, took part. Frank Stanish of the junior class had the vocal solo, and Remond Kiminkinen had the clarinet solo. The latter, a member of the sophomore class, took second place in the contest.

The mixed chorus and boys and girls glee choruses are practicing on their contest music in preparation for the final contest at Mt. Jackson next Friday.

As an eighth grade history project, the students in section 2 conducted a census of Bessemer Borough. The town was blocked out into districts to be covered by individual pupils residing in them. No house to house count was made, but class members had the immediate territory surrounding their own homes. Thus, a fairly accurate estimate of the number of inhabitants in the borough was secured. The final count showed a population of about 1800. It will be interesting to compare the results of the class findings with those of the government's census figures this spring.

The Freshmen class will have an April Fool's party on April 1. Plans are now being made by the committee.

Varicose Veins

If you or any relative or friend are worried or suffer because of varicose veins, or bunions, the best advice that anyone in this world can give is to get a prescription that literally hundreds of people all over the country are using with complete satisfaction.

Simply ask your druggist for an original two ounce bottle of Emerald Oil (that strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins, rubbing gently upwards and towards the heart as the blood in the veins flows that way. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. Emerald Oil is a powerful, yet harmless, stimulant, and results are guaranteed by its makers. You can get it at New Castle Drug Co. McKeesport, Pa. or at all good druggists.

Census Takers Will Need World Atlas And History

Must Record Birthplace Of Foreigners As Country
Is Known Today

Many Changes In Names
Have Been Made Since
Close Of Great
World War

The 100,000 census enumerators who will begin on April 2 to collect facts about the people of the United States will need to know their geography and also something about the recent history of the world, according to instructions which are being sent out from the census bureau in Washington. Among the most important questions to be asked of everybody in the coming census are those relating to the place of birth of the person enumerated and the place of birth of his father and mother. Each person must be credited in the census records to the state, territory or foreign country in which his birthplace is now located, regardless of what the birthplace was called or what nation owned that territory at the time the person was born.

sus of 1920 there were 13,712,754 persons who were born in foreign countries; and there were 22,686,204 persons born in the United States whose parents were born in foreign countries. These two classes comprised 38.5 per cent of the total white population; so it may be seen that the census takers may wear out several atlases finding where all these people and their parents were born.

To our foreign-born population Russia contributed a larger share than any other of the countries as they existed before the World war, the total number of persons born in Russia being 2,020,646; Germany ranked next with 1,915,864; then came Italy, 1,615,180; then old Austria, 1,445,141 (of whom only about 575,000 were born within the confines of the present Austria); and next Ireland, 1,164,707. The coming census will show the changes that are taking place in the composition of our foreign-born population as the result of immigration restriction and other influences, census officials have pointed out.

1929 Birth Rate Lowest In Years

Fewer Birth Certificates Issued
In Pennsylvania Since
Year Of 1907

Pennsylvania's birth rate during 1929 was the lowest since 1907, figured just completed by the Bureau of Vital Statistics at Harrisburg show.

During the year there were 189,247 births registered at Harrisburg, for a birth rate of 19.1 per thousand of population.

Despite the lowered birth rate however, there was an apparent natural increase in population of 7.3 in 1,000 of the population, due to the excess of births over deaths, but the age distribution of population is such that a low death rate and high death rate would be expected.

According to officials of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, a continuation of these conditions will mean a stationary population in Pennsylvania by the year 1960.

Penna. Governor Sets Arbor And Bird Days

Proclamation Designates April 11 And 25 And Calls For Observance In Schools

HARRISBURG, March 25.—By official proclamation, Governor Fisher has designated Friday, April 11 and Friday, April 25 as Spring Arbor and Bird Days.

The proclamation, calling for observance of the days in every school of the Commonwealth, reads in part as follows:

"Trees minister to our daily needs in many different ways. They provide us with shade and shelter; they adorn our home grounds, highways and hillsides; they yield nut and fruit crops in abundance; they supply medicine and promote the health of our people. Trees collectively form the great forest, which supply the necessary wood for the construction of our homes, the development of our industries and the building and maintenance of our great systems of transportation and communication. Forest products are said to enter our daily lives in more than 4000 different forms. Forested mountains are the source and protection of well-regulated streams. The scenic beauty and varied charm of our woodlands attract our people and invite them to enjoy the advantages of our great natural playgrounds.

Trees furnish for our principal insectivorous birds their nesting places. Birds are essential to tree life and agriculture; their plumage and song make life sweeter and pleasanter; they contribute in many ways to the welfare of mankind.

I, therefore, commend to our citizens, and especially to the school children for whom the observance of Arbor and Bird Day was primarily instituted, a constructive consideration of our forest and bird situation. I shall be pleased to know that every school in Pennsylvania, during the coming Spring Arbor and Bird Day observance, has participated in the planting of trees and performed some definite service for the promotion of bird life.

Rev. S. B. Copeland Speaks To Senior High Young Men This Morning

INTERVIEWS WILL START TOMORROW

Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church of this city formally opened the annual "Move Up Forward" campaign of the Senior Hi-Y club when he spoke this morning before a special assemblage of the young men at the school. His theme was "Which Counts Most, What We Are or What We Do?"
Illness prevented Rev. G. S. Bennett, First Christian church pastor from making the opening address. Rev. Copeland gladly accepted an offer to substitute and the 30-minute message which he brought was a most inspiring one. He urged the boys to take advantage of the worthy opportunity, that of enjoying interviews with the prominent business and professional men.

In charge of the program was Melvin Moonhouse, president of the Hi-Y club. Frederick Taylor is general chairman of the campaign. More than 120 boys had signed applications to make interviews after the program had closed with indications that many more would sign up before the two-day interviews start Wednesday morning.

An urgent need exists for more business, professional and other men to interview the boys. W. A. Thomas, boys' work secretary declared at noon. The number of young men signing up for conferences exceeded every expectation of the leaders.
Men who will volunteer their time are asked to call the Y. M. C. A. and ask for Mr. Thomas or Mr. Meermans. Interviewing starts tomorrow at 9 o'clock and will continue through until 3:30. The same hours will be in effect on Thursday.

Should Have More Autos In State

Pennsylvania's Proposition Is Lower Than Nation As Whole

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—Pennsylvania has only one automobile for every five and three-fifths persons whereas the United States as a whole boasts one motor vehicle for every four and one-half persons, according to an analysis of estimates of population in 1928 by the census bureau and of automobile registration figures of 1929 just made public by the department of agriculture.
The agriculture department figures state that in 1929 a total of 1,733,283 motor vehicles was registered in Pennsylvania, upon which the State collected $29,264,695 in fees. The State ranked fourth of the 48 in the number of such registrations, New York coming first, California second and Ohio third.
Census bureau estimates place the 1928 population of Pennsylvania at 9,854,000, and a comparison of these figures with the number of automobiles registered indicates that there was one motor vehicle in the state for every five and three-fifths residents.
In 1929, a total of 26,501,443 motor vehicles was registered in the country, and a comparison of these figures 120,013,000 persons yields the information that there was one motor car in the entire country for every four and one-half residents.
It isn't mere swell-head that annoys us, but the importance that dares to feel as important as we do.

Partial Half Holiday For Postal Workers

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—In a general order sent out by Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster general, postmasters of first and second-class offices in Pennsylvania have been requested to arrange such curtailment of work on Saturdays as to provide a partial half holiday for employees.
The Post Office Department, according to the order, has found that most offices can close early on Saturday because of the lesser amount of mail received Saturday afternoons and the custom of early closing by local business houses.

In many offices it has been found possible to maintain adequate service on Saturdays with clerical and carrier schedules reduced to four, five and six hours, thus by good management providing a partial half holiday for workers without any material increase in operating expense.
The Post Office Department recommends to postmasters of the state that a study of the local situation be made and the Saturday work arranged so as to provide shorted working hours on that day.

Akron Drops Out Of Central League

Richmond, Indiana, To Get Baseball Franchise This Season

(International News Service)
CANTON, O., March 25.—Richmond, Ind., will get the sixth franchise in the Central baseball league, replacing Akron, it was announced here today by Don Jacobs, president of the league. Other clubs in the league are Canton, Springfield, Dayton, Erie, Pa., and Fort Wayne, Ind.
The substitution of Richmond for Akron is the first and only change in the personnel of the league in its history.
Jacobs stated today that John McClosky, who managed the Akron outfit last year, will take over the Richmond team. All of last year's hold-over players of the Akron club will go to Richmond.

Mining "Rebels" Fail To Appear

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 25.—None of the twenty-one "rebels" of the United Mine Workers of America, mostly from the Illinois and Kansas ranks, cited to appear for trial before the international executive committee of the union here today, put in an appearance when the trial body convened.
The committee plunged into a discussion of the penalty that is to be meted out to the insurgents who bolted to organize a new International Miners' Union in a rump convention at Springfield, Ill.
Expulsion from the union was expected to be the penalty.
The 21 "rebels" included Frank Farrington, Alex Howat, Harry Fishwick, Walter Nesbit and most of the members of the executive committee of district No. 12.

TWO ARE RESCUED
DETROIT, Mich., March 25.—Lovell Grant Jr., decorated aviation war hero, added another thrilling chapter to his life when he and a companion Irving Dalley, were rescued from their 50 foot yawl by the customs border patrol boat late yesterday after nine airplanes had failed to locate them. The two men decided to stay in the yawl during the storm on the lake, and when the yawl broke from its moorings, fought the high seas for two days and a night.

Call New Jury Panel To Complete Jury To Try Glenn Dague

Nine Jurors Had Been Accepted When Court Adjourned On Monday Night

Expect Cast To Progress Faster Than That Of Mrs. Irene Schroeder

Although the jury to try W. Glenn Dague was not selected at adjournment Monday night, faster progress was being made in it than was anticipated before the trial opened. Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand ordered a night session on Monday night and during the session the second panel of jurors was exhausted. The sheriff was ordered to impound thirty extra for the selection of the three needed to complete the necessary 12.

The average examination of a juror was much shorter in the Dague case than it was in the Schroeder case. In the case against the Trigger Blond, a number of questions were asked that were unnecessary in the examination of the Dague jurors, and the two panels were exhausted by nine thirty. Court opened this morning at 9:30.

There seemed to be no reason to believe that the taking of testimony would start sometime today, perhaps the noon recess. It is probable that the court will be asked to allow the jury to go out on to the Butler road to view the scene of the murder and also the scene of the Horton hold-up. Another trip will probably be made downstairs to view the Chevrolet.

DRY HEADS RAP LITERARY DIGEST POLL AS UNFAIR

CLEVELAND, O., March 25. — Geo. C. Southwell, secretary and spokesman for the Dry Maintenance League in Cleveland, yesterday denounced the wet and dry pool of the Literary Digest as "very unfair and very unreliable" and announced that constituents of the league would be advised to ignore the straw ballot.

Southwell's statement followed a poll Sunday in northern Ohio churches to determine the exact distribution of the Digest ballots among men and women. The poll was made at the suggestion of Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York, vice chairman of the Citizens Committee of 1,000, a dry organization which is taking a leading role in the prohibition debate before the House judiciary committee in Washington.

In a telegram to Southwell, Dr. Poling said he had received information indicating that the "Literary Digest" ballots were being sent almost exclusively to men, which, if true, would seriously affect the validity of the vote.

Although returns from the church poll were not complete last night, Southwell said that only 6.6 per cent of the women in the congregations received ballots, while 33.7 per cent of the men had been queried on their stands for enforcement, modification or repeal.

Florida Plans To Keep Capone "Out"

THOUGHT SHE WAS INVALID FOR LIFE

Lady Asserts World's Tonic Helped Her Over A Crisis

"Only a few weeks ago I thought I was sick for the rest of my life, and I did not care much how short that was, except for my children," said Mrs. J. E. May of Butler, Pa., to the World's Tonic interviewer. "I had been getting worse and worse in spite of the treatments I took, until every day my stomach would swell up after eating and I belched a great deal of the time. Sometimes there was much pain over my heart, and when I tried to go upstairs or walk up a hill I had to stop and get my breath frequently. These things came on after the birth of my baby, and I had to bottle feed the child, which has never been very strong. I had pains in my back and legs, and when I would stoop over I got so dizzy that I had to hold to something to keep myself from falling. My bowels were very obstinate, so that I had to take a strong physic nearly every day. I had dark circles under my eyes and the back of my neck felt like it would break; the bottom of my feet were so hot I had to stick them out from under the covers at night."

Nothing I took did me any good. One day my husband heard one of the men in the mill talking about how much World's Tonic, the new medicine, had helped his wife, and on his way home he stopped and bought a bottle of it. I scolded him for wasting his money, but it was one of the best investments he ever made in his life. That bottle went right to the trouble. My bowels became regular, and one by one the troubles I had cleared up. Now I am on my fifth bottle. It is a wonderful how much better I am. The pains have left me. I am no longer dizzy, and I relish the food I eat."

If I had known of World's Tonic six months ago, I would never have suffered so much, and I feel sure my baby would have been stronger and livelier. I certainly refer to it as "I did." This valuable medicine can be obtained of Eckerd's, McKee's, Paisley's, Smith's or at any other first class drug store. (A-9)

Expect Shipment Of 15,000 Quail
HARRISBURG, March 25.—Charles A. Hiller, in charge of propagation for the Game Commission, announced today that shipping instructions for 15,000 quail have been sent to shippers in Texas, and that some of the birds should begin arriving the last week in March. Game protectors residing in counties bordering neighboring states have received a number of leg bands, which will be put on all quail released in their sections, and the sportsmen in the adjoining states are being asked to co-operate with the Game Commission in that if they happen to kill any banded birds, that the bands be removed and returned to this office, so that it can be determined whether the quail are moving into adjoining states, and if so to what extent.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

See Doctor To Correct Child's Ill

I like to hear from grand parents. One writes from Michigan:

"I am an interested reader of 'The Parent Problem' column in our paper, and I want to ask you about a very serious case of bladder trouble. Our granddaughter, nearly three years old, has lost almost complete control of urination. She tries to get to the toilet at times, but more often wets her pants."

"Her mother had her broken when about a year old, when she had a very sick spell, gathering in a large lump formed behind one ear and they had her ears lanced and pus discharged from them both. Since that time she has had this bladder trouble. The urine scalds her parts and limbs, and is sometimes very cloudy. She has had a number of boils on her limbs."

"The mother was much annoyed over this continual wetting and sometimes chastens her with a yard stick, shames her, and tells of her fault to others before her, which I think is a very improper thing to do. They also gave her home brew to drink from a baby up, till the doctors found out she has a craving appetite for it now, and gets it whenever she can. Her mother objects, but the father says it won't hurt her. Don't you believe this is one cause of her bladder trouble? I can't help but think it is."

"This is a very serious case. Will you please join with me in prayer for this unfortunate little child? I believe in the Bible way of confessing our faults and praying one of another, and from reading your column I believe you are a good Christian, doctor, in whom we can confide our difficulty. "If you think this will help some other mother you may print it."

Answer: If I were you I should write to the state department of health Lansing, Mich., to direct you to the nearest doctor or hospital competent to deal with your granddaughter's case. If the family have great financial limitations, state this fact in your letter. No doubt she is suffering from some physical trouble that could be corrected. Don't delay this matter.

In the meantime, sit down with the mother of this child, put your arms around her and in your tender, loving way tell her never to punish this child nor scold her again. Persuade her to make the child feel that she really wants to help her and that she will consider no accident any worry or trouble to her. Plead with her never to talk about the child's trouble before others. Ask her to provide her daughter's bed with a rubber sheet and to remind her to go to the bathroom by day at regular intervals, short enough to succeed. Of course any loving mother would be willing to keep her away from her child. Application of olive oil or some other lotion on the child should protect her against the "scalding" by the urine. But the child needs medical care. See that she gets the best as soon as possible.

Yes, I am trying to be a good Christian, but like yourself, I make lots of mistakes. I am sure. I do believe in prayer for others. To do so makes us a lot better, more loving and more lovable. I also believe that good doctors and good hospitals are means through which God answers our prayers when we are willing to avail ourselves of the blessings which in His Providence are vouchsafed to us. I am glad you wrote to me. I think you must be a wonderful grandmother. You and your children and grandchildren have my most sincere good wishes.

Parole Is Refused New Castle Man

BUTLER, Pa., March 25.—Judge James O. Campbell, following his policy of not interfering with the sentences of the predecessors, refused to parole George C. of New Castle, sentenced to the Allegheny county workhouse, last year, as the driver of an automobile which killed one person in an accident at Muddy Creek Falls. Judge Campbell told attorneys that the case could be renewed, if the health of C. was endangered by his imprisonment. He has about five months to serve.

No Substitute For Tanlac

For Quick Relief of Stomach, Liver, Kidney and "Rheumatic" Troubles—Two of The Most Remarkable Endorsements Ever Given A Medicine

TANLAC WITHOUT
EQUAL SAYS
NURSE

Read this letter. It is one sent to us voluntarily by a practicing nurse, Mrs. B. Picord, whose advice anyone suffering from stomach troubles could well take.

She writes, "In 10 years active nursing have found Tanlac without equal as a remedy for stomach and liver troubles and I can certainly promise people wonderful results in view of my long experience with this medicine. I had stomach troubles, myself for years, could eat scarcely anything without suffering, never any appetite, always nervous and run-down. But as soon as I began Tanlac, I started to build me right up. All stomach troubles were routed and never any pain, distress or gases since. Now I eat everything with perfect safety and weigh more now than in past 15 years." Tanlac is not a patent medicine. Every drop is real medicine designed to do its part in making you well. Accept no substitute.

Other Remedies May Promise But Tanlac Performs!
A REAL medicine that backs claims with a guarantee

IN 21 DAYS KIDNEY,
BLADDER, STOMACH
TROUBLES END

Better by far than all the glowing promises in the world is the actual proof of what Tanlac has done for others who once suffered like you.

Mr. Charles L. Stultz, a carpenter, suffered night and day for years until Tanlac put an end to it. He writes, "I suffered from a rundown condition for 3 or 4 years. I also had kidney and bladder troubles as well as indigestion and pains in stomach and side. My sleep was disturbed 4 or 5 times a night. I saw Tanlac advertised and decided to try it. I had tried other things which failed but I had taken 3 bottles of Tanlac my kidney, bladder troubles and pains disappeared and never returned." Tanlac gives results and gives them quickly, for every ingredient in it is a strong potent medicine. Get a bottle today at your druggist.

Find Woman On Floor Of Home
Body Badly Chewed, Evidently By Large Rats

HARRISBURG, March 24.—Monster rats attacked and killed Esther Bland, 41, a negro, according to police who found the body of the woman Monday in the kitchen of her home.

Because the badly chewed body lay near a shoe she seemed to have used to fend off the attack of the rats, police believed that she was alive when attacked.

The discovery followed the curiosity of neighbors, unable to understand why the woman had not been seen for several days. She had been ill, police were told, and evidently was unable to protect herself from the huge rodents infesting her home.

Feminine Influence Seen In Men's Attire

Cherchez la femme—look for the woman—is the famous French phrase regarding most any mysterious happening among men. And so, when the new Spring styles in men's clothes unaccountably transform most of your male acquaintances—cherchez la femme.

For the growing feminine influence on men's attire will be in evidence this Easter as never before. And, paradoxically enough, its effect will be to make their appearance more masculine, athletic and youthful. There will be no old men anymore.

Moreover, men's garments will approximate women's in lightness, color and originality. Delicate pastel shades will be among the fashionable colors. "Shoulders will be broad, square while shortening of the coat will further the appearance of breadth. In some models the square effect will be accentuated by 'rope' shoulders. Both two and three button coats will be worn. Double-breasted coats, while in evidence, will be slightly less in favor.

"While these are the prevailing features in men's Spring styles, the college man, however, will assert his customary independence.

"Instead of accentuating the breadth of shoulders, the collegian models will be of medium width. His coat will have three buttons, two of which will be buttoned, and be of soft construction. Instead of wearing pockets and buttons fairly high, he will wear them extremely low. Instead of medium width, his will be narrow rounded block lapels.

"A third general mode is termed the 'banker's' style. Although influenced by the latest trends, it will express them, both as to cut and color, with extreme conservatism.

"Tweeds and flannels will be the prevailing materials in sports clothes. Flannel trousers will be plain whites, or striped, or combination. Knickers will be plus fours.

"The fashionable topcoat for general wear will be three-buttoned, and effect straight-hanging lines. The dress type of topcoat will be double-breasted, with shaped body lines. Shoulders will be accentuated by 'rope' shoulder effects. Half-belted, pleated backs will be a prevailing tendency in topcoat styles.

"The tendency in topcoat materials is towards camel's hair and fleece fabrics, although tweed will be extensively used.

"Its comfort, service and style will recommend the Raglan for motoring wear and general utility. This style will most frequently be seen in fabrics of rough textures and in shades which do not soil easily."

Small Boy Hurt When Hit By Auto

Runs From Behind Automobile In Front Of Truck Of New Brighton Man

Bernard Kielar, aged 6, of 56 High street, Oakland, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital, suffering from internal injuries in the region of the abdomen, the full extent of which has not as yet been determined as a result of being struck by the truck of William C. Sayre, Marion Hill, New Brighton, Pa., R. D. 2, on Atlantic avenue, near the city line about four o'clock Monday afternoon.

While his injury is serious, his condition is reported at the hospital as being as good as could be expected and his recovery is hoped for.

According to the report made to the State Highway Patrol by Mr. Sayre, whose truck is used in the transportation of products of the National Biscuit company, he was enroute south on Atlantic avenue, near the Oakland district, when the little boy ran out from behind a car enroute north. He ran directly in front of the Sayre truck, which Mr. Sayre could not stop in time to prevent the accident. The little fellow was hit and knocked to the pavement.

Mr. Sayre stopped as soon as possible and R. K. Warnock of 508 Spruce street, who happened to be driving past at the time, picked up the little boy and rushed him to the Jameson hospital.

Here it was determined that the little boy has escaped the fracture of bones, but was suffering from an internal injury in the region of the abdomen.

Youth Is Wounded While Attempting To Loot Bakery

Two Youths Surprised In Act Of Looting Fire-Swept Bakery; Proprietor Shoots

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 25.—Walter Lenkowski, 15, was seriously wounded today when he was caught in the act of looting a fire-swept bakery shop by the proprietor, Frank Pietzyski.

The wounded boy and John Karzmacz, 16, admitted to police they were about to rob the place when they were surprised by Pietzyski. As they started running towards a rear door the proprietor fired three shots at them, one of which hit Lenkowski.

The wounded boy was rushed to the South Side hospital where his back was to be X-rayed to determine the extent of his injury.

Both Pietzyski and young Karzmacz were arrested on suspicious person charges following the shooting.

Karzmacz's arrest led to an investigation at his home and arrest of his brother Frank, 18, and Sorce Punk, 18, when a quantity of alleged stolen articles was found in the home.

Street Widening Under Discussion

Ordinances Are Before Council But No Actual Moves Made

Following the presentation of an ordinance by Councilman Lou Genkinger which would widen East Washington street between County Line street and Butler avenue, persons interested in the rapidity of traffic today pointed out that only widening can help to alleviate the condition.

It is not known whether the council accepted the presentation of the ordinance yesterday as a "gesture" or whether the improvement will be put through.

Several years ago a widening ordinance for East Washington street was presented but nothing came of it. The measure was introduced before the thoroughfare was repaved.

The spring traffic movement east is quite heavy and when the recreation season opens at Cascade Park, tie-up following tie-up is certain to occur because automobiles cannot pass to the right of street cars on the hills. The skipstop system recently requested by Councilman Clayton C. H. Reeves has not yet been instituted by the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company.

Street Car Repaving Is Being Damaged

Several years ago city officials proposed to repave Cedar street between Mahoning avenue and Clinton street and in anticipation of the improvement being made the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company laid new rails and repaved their share of the thoroughfare.

Instead of doing its share the city has been doing nothing and as a consequence, it is reported, the brick repaving of the street car company is being broken off where the old paving exists.

Rather than drive on the rough city share of the thoroughfare automobilists use the street car's section and many narrow accidents have occurred as automobilists, it is said, take the attitude "the other autoist should turn out."

Government Takes Hand In Trial Of Indian At Buffalo

Richard H. Templeton, U. S. Attorney Takes Part As Co-Counsel For Defense

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
COURTROOM, Buffalo, March 25.—

The United States government today formally entered the trial of Lila Jimerson, Indian spinster, charged with the murder of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, when Richard H. Templeton, United States attorney for Western New York, appeared in court and was accepted as a co-counsel for the defense.

He informed Judge F. Bret Thorn that he had received instructions from the attorney general of the United States to take part in the trial.

Serious Charges Made Against Man

Young Lady Claims That He Took Her To The Country And Assaulted Her

Charles Smith of Enon Valley, arrested about 2 o'clock this morning on West Washington street by Officers M. J. Young and Criswell because of the fact that he answered the description of a man wanted on a very serious charge made by a young lady residing on Franklin avenue, the police say, is still in the custody of the police, pending action by the parents of the girl and county authorities.

According to the story told the police, the young woman in the case was walking home along East Washington street about 10 o'clock last night, after completing her work at a local establishment and when near Oak street, noticed a car.

The man in the car spoke to her and she, assuming that it was some person knowing her, stepped nearer to the machine, when the man in the car grabbed and dragged her into the machine. She alleges that the man took her out into the country and there assaulted and abused her. Her condition, according to the police, is quite serious.

The police were furnished with a description of the young man and his car and Officers M. J. Young and Criswell while on another case on West Washington street between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning, noticed a man attempting to crank a car answering the description of the car of the assailant of the girl. The man cranking was a local merchant. He was assisting the owner, he said, and the owner happened to answer the description of the man wanted, so the officers took him in charge.

He was taken to the home of the girl on Franklin avenue, who identified him as the man whom she alleges assaulted and abused her. The young man, the police say, is out on parole. He gave the name of "Charles Smith" and his address as Enon Valley.

Believe Soldier Thought Dead Is Prisoner

VINCENNES, Ind., March 25.—Merlin Pritchard, believed to be dead by relatives here, and buried as a war dead, has been heard of by his mother. Recently she received a letter from a soldier in a prison of the French Republic in Africa, saying that he was Merlin Pritchard.

A picture was obtained through the French Commandant of the Foreign Legion which has been identified by his mother and friends. An effort will be made by Robert Gephart, commander of the Vincennes Forty and Eight Chapter of the American Legion, to secure the release of this man. Mr. Gephart will go to Washington to enlist President Hoover's aid in obtaining his release.

More Grass Fires Reported Monday

Three grass fires were reported to local firemen Monday, one of which occasioned an alarm from Box 64.

At 5:45, members of the Sixth ward department were notified that there was a house on fire on Robinson street, and an alarm was turned in. Arriving on the scene, they found a grass fire nearby, but boys playing about the fire had it extinguished when firemen arrived.

At 7:15, Assistant Chief H. Clare Stockman and Fireman McAnaney were called to the vicinity of Shango street, near the old hospital, where it was reported that a grass fire was menacing surrounding property.

At 9:25, a still alarm called Assistant Chief Stockman and McAnaney to the vicinity of Willard avenue, where a grass fire started by boys was menacing several garages. This was beat out.

Propose To Plant Thirty Grapevines

When the time becomes right city employees will plant 30 grapevines about the grounds of the municipal disposal plant along the New Castle-Puaski highway. Councilman Genkinger also proposes to plant shrubbery, flowers and in many ways hopes to improve the appearance of the grounds.

LEGION HOME TO BE CLOSED FOR SEVERAL WEEKS

Extensive repairs are to be made at home of service men.

The extensive repairs as recently announced for the Legion Home will get under way Thursday. It was announced today by Ivor Davis, chairman of the House Committee of the Legion Home Association.

The organizations meeting in the home, the American Legion and Auxiliary, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary, the United Spanish War Veterans and Auxiliary, the Service Star Legion and the G. A. R., will after that date find it necessary to meet elsewhere temporarily for a period of approximately three weeks, while the place is being entirely renovated.

For the first time in quite a period of time, the building is undergoing complete rehabilitation, the roof being repaired, the woodwork being repainted, the interior redecorated and everything being put in first class condition. The decorating contract was awarded to J. L. Wimer on Saturday.

When the work has all been completed, the board of the association hopes to hold open house for the G. A. R. and all organizations meeting in the place.

Commander Byrd's Grandmother Dies

Mrs. Jennie Byrd, Aged 91, Grandmother Of Famous Antarctic Explorer Dies

(International News Service) BALTIMORE, March 25.—The hope that Mrs. Jennie Byrd, 91-year-old grandmother of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, had that her "Dicky" would take her for a flight on his return from Antarctica, is now gone forever.

She died here yesterday at the Woman's hospital. For the past 18 years Mrs. Byrd had lived here with her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Susan Byrd Shipley.

When Byrd went flying over the south pole his grandmother sat at the radio and listened for the announcement that he had returned safely to his base in Little America, and expressing great pride in "Dicky's" accomplishment, said she was looking forward to a trip by air that he had promised her.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Besides Mrs. Shipley, the following survive: three other daughters and three sons, Miss Mary A. Byrd, Miss Margaret Byrd, Mrs. R. W. Stargur of California, and George, Alfred and William Byrd.

Four grandchildren also survive, "Dicky," former Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Thomas Byrd and Evelyn Byrd Shipley.

PHILADELPHIAN CALLS KONJOLA REAL MEDICINE

"Without A Peer In The World". Is Opinion Of Grateful Man Relieved By New Compound

MR. GEORGE W. REDFIELD

"Konjola proves it's merit in my case and in my opinion has not a peer in the world," said Mr. George W. Redfield, 2622 Bonnafon street, Philadelphia. "I had become terribly rundown and weak. I contracted cold after cold, each one a little worse than the one before. I was weak and sick all over. I could not sleep at night and there were many days when my tasks were an absolute drudgery. I was losing weight and strength."

"I tried many medicines and tonics without avail. Nothing helped until my friends insisted that I try Konjola. No one knows what a relief this new medicine brought me. My appetite picked up almost at once. My stomach and bowels began to function perfectly again. I slept well at night and my energy came back day by day until I reached the best state of health I have known in years. I shall always recommend this great medicine."

Konjola is sold by Love & Megown, the druggists, 204 E. Washington St., this city.

Reviews Fight To Protect Food Sold In State

HARRISBURG, March 25—"The pure food situation throughout Pennsylvania is the best in several years," Dr. James W. Kellogg, director-chief chemist, bureau of foods and chemistries, Pennsylvania department of agriculture, asserted in his annual report to Secretary of Agriculture C. G. Jordan. "It is now the rule rather than the exception that consumers can purchase wholesome and correctly branded foods wherever they may go in this commonwealth," the director said.

The report shows that field agents of the bureau conducted a vigorous campaign against food law evaders during 1929. These agents made 53,260 field inspections and investigations. They gathered 13,000 samples of foods and agricultural products which were given through analyses by the bureau's chemists. They ordered 1100 prosecutions all but three of which were successfully terminated, and collected fines totaling $43,065.

The bureau issued 10,602 licenses, permits and certificates of proficiency during the year. These included 4529 licenses to sell oleomargarine, 1316 to sell feeding stuffs, 234 to sell fertilizers, 98 to sell lime products, 130 to sell insecticides, 67 to operate cold storage warehouses, 24 to conduct egg opening plants, 377 to bottle carbonated beverages, 1155 to test milk, 536 to weigh and sample milk and 1208 to operate milk plants. A total of 216 certificates were issued to milk testers and 152 to weighers and samplers.

Revenue of $644,938 was collected from fines and license fees while the total expenses of the bureau were $161,996, making a net balance for the state of $482,942.

Deputies Learn Game Code Rules

HARRISBURG, Mar. 25—Division agents of the Board of Game Commissioners are holding district meetings in all sections of the State to instruct members of the enforcement squads. Game protectors, the deputies and the keepers at the State game farms attend each meeting.

Board officials at each of the meetings outline plans for enforcement work during the coming summer. When possible an expert in the use of firearms gives instructions.

"Sweet Cookie!"

The rookie who donned Babe Ruth's historic No. 3 uniform for early practice with the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla., a few weeks ago—that's Allen "Dusty" Cooke, who has been slated to take Bob Meusel's old left fielder assignment.

The immortal Bam was still holding out for more salary when the Yanks assembled and his duds fit "Dusty." So Cooke put 'em on—all but the Ruthian shoes! Even the ambitious and brilliant young recruit from St. Paul would not attempt to fill the Babe's brogans as yet!

Cooke hit 33 homers in the American Association last season and his pal, Ben Chapman, slated to start at third base for the Yanks, belted 31. Both these rookies seemed assured of regular positions from the season's start—they were that good with St. Paul last year and their early form has more than justified expectations.

The "Dusty" husky batted for 353 in 1929. Cooke got that nickname by the way, when after fording a load of peach brandy for a friend over miles of dusty Carolina roads. "Dusty" swears he didn't even get a taste of his stimulating cargo (he was too young perhaps!) but he did "eat as much earth as a man crawling across the Sahara."

"Dusty" was born a little more than 23 years ago on a farm not far from Durham, N. C. He was a football star at his high school, but family needs compelled him to get a job in the carding room of a cotton mill before he could finish his course. He played baseball on the side, was a sensation with the Durham club, ditto with Ben Chapman at Asheville in 1928, and likewise with the Saints all last season. He is at home in any field, though right was his regular berth with the Saints.

"Cap" Neal, business manager of the Louisville club, tabs Cooke as "Ruth's logical successor"—a larger order to fill by far than was that illustrious No. 3 Yankee uniform which "Dusty" squeezed himself into during those days when the club management was trying to "psych" the Bam into signing for less money than Ruth demanded.

For sentimental folk, the info is given that Cooke is Scotch-Welsh and the sole support of a widowed mother.

America In The 20th Century
Aviation—Dirigibles

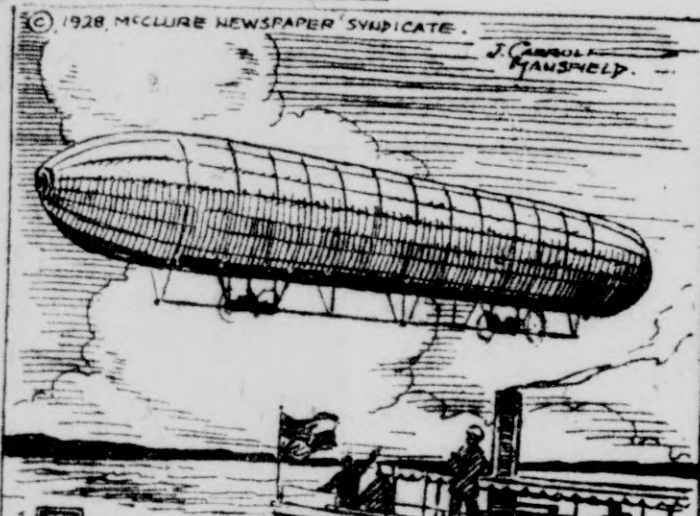

DURING THE 19TH CENTURY, CAPTIVE BALLOONS WERE USED TO OBSERVE THE MOVEMENTS OF THE ENEMY'S FORCES IN THE NAPOLEONIC WARS IN EUROPE AND TO A SMALLER EXTENT IN THE CIVIL WAR IN AMERICA. CAPTIVE AND FREE BALLOONS WERE ALSO USED TO STUDY THE AIR AND THE CLOUDS.

BUT BALLOONS WERE AT THE MERCY OF THE WINDS, AND MEN BEGAN SEEKING A WAY TO CONTROL THE DIRECTION OF FLIGHT. THE RESULT OF MANY EXPERIMENTS, THE DIRIGIBLE BALLOON FIRST APPEARED IN FRANCE IN 1852. THE BAG WAS SHAPED LIKE A CIGAR TO OFFER LESS RESISTANCE TO THE WIND. IT WAS PROPELLED BY A LIGHT STEAM ENGINE, AND STEERED BY A LARGE RUDDER.

EXPERIMENTS WITH DIRIGIBLES CONTINUED. PROMINENT AMONG THE PIONEERS IN THIS FIELD WAS SANTIAGO DUMONT, A BRAZILIAN LIVING IN FRANCE, WHO BETWEEN 1898 AND 1904 BUILT FOURTEEN AIRSHIPS DRIVEN BY GAS ENGINES.

THE RIGID DIRIGIBLE, HAVING A METAL FRAMEWORK INSIDE THE BAG TO STRENGTHEN IT, WAS THE INVENTION OF COUNT FERDINAND VON ZEPPELIN, A GERMAN. ZEPPELIN FLEW THE FIRST GIGANTIC AIRSHIP OF THIS TYPE OVER LAKE CONSTANCE IN 1900. THOUGH HIS EARLY SHIPS MET WITH NUMEROUS MISHAPS, ZEPPELIN DEVELOPED A DIRIGIBLE THAT WAS FAIRLY SAFE AND COULD CRUISE FOR GREAT DISTANCES.

Temple Israel Team Wins Second-Half Title

Jewish Quintet Defeats Wesley, Rogovin Is Star

Temples To Play Central Christians Friday In Church League Championship Game

BAPTISTS LOSE TO CHRISTIANS

The Temple Israel team in an overtime session at the "Y" on Monday night defeated the Wesley M. E. team 29 to 25, and thereby won the second-half championship in the New Castle Church Basketball League. The First Baptists lost to the Central Christians 26 to 25 in an overtime period in the only other game on the bill last night. It was a night of real basketball playing at the Y. M. C. A. and a fair sized crowd of fans were kept interested throughout both contests.

Rogovin In Spotlight

Coach Kettie Van Fossan placed an inspired Temple Israel on the floor last night to battle the Wesley team for the right to remain undefeated in the second-half of the church season. The Wesley team led at the end of the first half 12 to 11. Dave Rogovin was the big star for the Temples as they moved down the Wesleyites. It was the fine work of Rogovin and Plant with two field goals apiece and the playing of Eph Solomon that kept the Temples in the running in the first half of the contest.

The end of the regulation game found the Temple and Wesley tied up at 23 all. The Temples outscored their opponents 14 to 13. Both teams started off fast in the extra period with victory just ahead. Dave Rogovin sank a basket from mid-court to put the Temples ahead and this shot brought the fans to their feet. A few minutes later Plant caught a field goal that put the game on ice at 29 to 25. The Wesley team could not score in the overtime period due to the great guarding of Plant, Davids and H. Levine.

Temples Stage Comeback

The Wesley team led at the end of the first quarter 8 to 6. The Temples picked up steam and were one point behind at 12 to 11 at the end of the half. Coach Van Fossan put vim and vigor into the Temples in the intermission period because they came back to take the lead at 22 to 15 at the end of the third quarter. The spirit of the Temples was due to the fine work of Dave Rogovin who sunk four buckets in the second half and six for the evening. The Wesley team looked good in the fourth period and came back strong enough to deadlock the count at 25-25. With one minute to go the Wesley team was ahead by one point at 25 to 24, but Rogovin shot a foul that saved the day for the Temples.

The playing of Gibson, Hughes and W. Rech featured for the Wesley team. It was without a doubt the best game played in the Church League to date.

Christians Victors

In the second on the bill the Central Christians came through with a sensational 26 to 25 victory over the First Baptists, in a game that also required an overtime session. The score at the end of the regulation game was 24-24. The Baptists led at the first half 11 to 9. The Christians came to life in the second half to tie the score. The going was fast in the overtime period, with both teams trying hard for victory.

The Temple Israel and Central Christians met Friday night at the "Y" in the first game of the series for the Church League championship. The series will be for three games, the team that wins must take two of the games.

The final standing of the Church League for the second half:

Union Hi Faculty Defeats Bessemer

Boyd, Leonard And Williams Lead In 46 To 14 Game That Goes To Union

The Union high school faculty basketball team socked the Bessemer high faculty boys 46 to 14, in a feature game at the Union high gym on Monday night. It was a complete rout for the Unionites, and the visitors never had a look in.

The great playing of Dave Boyd and Leonard was a feature, both of these boys caught seven baskets and played great defensive ball in the bargain. The work of Williams and Conway for Union was also good. Diehl and Dilley also were in the game up to their ears.

At the end of the first half the Unionites led 10 to 7. It was in the second half that the famed offensive drive of the Union boys came thru to pile up point after point, just like a well oiled machine. The playing of Lukruid, McGorey and Frederick started for Bessemer. It's too bad the season is about over because this Union high faculty crew would like to take on the other good faculty teams lurking around this neck of the woods.

Coaltown Quintet Tops Black Hawks

The Coaltown five handed the Black Hawks a 42 to 15 defeat in a game played at the Coaltown floor. Johnson and Blews featured for the Coaltown team with ten and seven field goals respectively. For the Black Hawks the work of Faichay and Fabian was the best.

The lineup: Coaltown 42 Black Hawks 15. Johnson Forsythe, Blews, Marsh, Brooks, Broff, Downing, Fabisian, G. Donaldson, Ward, Miller. Field goals—Faichay 4, Broff, Fabian 2, Johnson 10, Blews 7, Brooks, H. Brooks, Downing. Fouls—Coaltown 2 out of 6, Black Hawks 1 out of 9. Referee—Smith.

High Students Pay Tribute To 1929-30 Basketball Quintet

Captain Arthur Alexander Presents Principal F. L. Orth With Trophy

Players, Coach Bridenbaugh, And Faculty Manager Gardner Speak

Rising Fistic Star

A new shining light in the pugilistic field is Ted Goodrich, of Atlanta, Ga., victor over Joe Dundee, ex-welterweight champ, via the K. O. route. Ted believes tennis is a fine conditioner for ringmen.

On Monday in the auditorium of the senior high school, enthusiasm was manifested by the students who cheered and complimented the varsity basketball team for the record they made on the floor for the 1929-30 season just ended.

The New Castle high school team finished the season by winning the Lake Erie Tri-State schoolboy tournament at Erie on Saturday night. The victory was the twenty first in 22 games. Cheerleader Ralph Brice was in charge of the pep meetings.

Captain Presents Trophies

The meeting started with each player receiving an individual cheer as he entered the stage. Following this Captain Arthur Alexander presented the beautiful silver basketball, won in the Erie tournament, to Principal F. L. Orth, who accepted the trophy in a fitting manner with a few appropriate remarks. He complimented the basketball team for the record made and stated that he would place the trophy among the other trophies won by other teams of the high school.

Each player was called on to make a few remarks and the boys weren't a bit bashful. Francis Wainio, Nick Uram, Luther Rowe, Regis McAuley, James Shaffer, George Winter, John Uram, Andrew Lacky and Edward Conway were the players who made short speeches. All of the players emphasized the fact that they wished to thank the student body for support, and to thank Coach Phil Bridenbaugh for his coaching of the team.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh speaks. The next speaker on the program was head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh who paid fitting tribute to this year's floor team. He stated that the reason for New Castle entering the Lake Erie tournament was because the boys were rather downhearted about that unexpected defeat at the hands of Duquesne. When the boys were asked whether they would like to play they all exclaimed that they would and that they wanted to show the fans what team the high school really had this year.

Coach Bridenbaugh cited that New Castle played excellent basketball in the Erie tournament. The "foxy" coach then congratulated the floor team for the record they made and stated the record is the best ever made by any teams at the high school. Coach Bridenbaugh concluded his speech by complimenting the student body for the support they gave the team.

Faculty Manager Gardner speaks. Following Coach Bridenbaugh, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner was called on. "One reason New Castle won that tournament Saturday night was because the boys were determined," Mr. Gardner said. He declared that this year's team had on it the finest squad of fellows and that the team had made the best record made by any other team in the history of the school.

He congratulated all the boys and said he wished to bring out that New Castle had the finest student manager in William Long that they ever had.

Then followed cheers, with Cheerleader Ralph Brice leading. Assistant manager Bob Sypher and George Pals.

Those present on the stage were: Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh, Principal F. L. Orth, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, Cheerleader Ralph "Windy" Brice, and the following players: Captain Arthur Alexander, Luther Rowe, Regis McAuley, Nick Uram, Andrew Lacky, James Shaffer, George Pinter, Edward Marvin, John Uram and Francis Wainio.

EAST BROOK HIGH TO HONOR TEAMS

Varsity Players Will Be Guests Wednesday At Banquet At P.-O. Co. Hall

East Brook high school will fete the members of its girls' and boys' varsity basketball teams at a banquet and program Wednesday evening in the recreation room of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company here. Dinner will be served at 7:30.

Players who won East Brook letters during the past floor season and in whose honor the banquet has been arranged are as follows: John Rung, John Irwin, Harold McConnell, Sam Stunkard, Philip Schuler, Sophia Gardner, Isabelle McKnight, Mary Wallas, Helen Simson, Frances Garner, Roberta Spicer and Genevieve Linton.

In addition to the players the following will receive school letters: Walter Betka, cheer leader; Sam Schuler and Ruth Maxwell, managers.

Lower Merion Eastern Champ

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Lower Merion's classy basketball five had won the right today to meet the champion schoolboy five of the western end of the state for the Pennsylvania scholastic title by virtue of their 30-18 defeat of the John Harris high school team of Harrisburg here last night.

The championship contest is slated to be played in the Palestra here next Saturday night. Bill Anderson's tall rangy passers jumped into the lead shortly after the opening whistle and at half time the score stood 20-10 in their favor although the squad looked bad in the first few minutes of play.

The gritty Harrisburg team rallied in the final half and held the Ardmore Five to ten points while they amassed eight points. The smooth teamwork of the Lower Merion Five however smothered the individual playing of certain of the Harrisburg players.

Hungarian heavyweight says he'd rather win the title than own the United States, not realizing that nowadays you can have both.

Wampum Loses By Single Point

Kandy Kids Eliminated By Lowellville By Score Of 15-14 In Tourney

In the most thrilling game of the class "B" tournament held at the Beaver Falls high school, the Wampum Kandy Kids were eliminated by the strong Lowellville high school "5" by a 15 to 14 score. By overcoming the lead of the Wampum quintet in this game, the Ohio "5" clinched the title as they had easy sailing to the title in the semi-finals and final game.

The Wampum team deserves a lot of credit for putting up such a good game against a high school aggregation, and had they come out on top, they would have won the tournament in easy fashion.

The game was close throughout, the Wampum team never having more than a one point lead at any time until the last period when, with only 44 seconds left to play, Shevitz sunk a long goal from the center of the floor and put the Lowellville team in the lead for the first time during the game and it was this bucket that sunk the locals. The first period was close and when it ended the Wampum team were riding on top of a 2 to 1 count. Both teams played an even game during the second period, scoring 4 points apiece and when the half ended, Wampum was still in the lead by a 6 to 5 count.

Playing wonderful basketball during the second half the Wampum team managed to count 2 baskets and a foul while Lowellville duplicated this feat and when the third period ended, Lowellville Hi were still trailing by a 11 to 10 score. Each team played hard during the last period and with the Wampum team in the lead with less than a minute to play, it looked as if the Kandy Kids were "in," but the goal registered by Shevitz spelled defeat and won the title for the Ohio team. White had a chance to tie the score in the last ten seconds but his foul try rolled off the hoop and the game was over.

The Boone brothers played a fine game for Wampum, while Shevitz and Worsenroft played a bang-up game for the victors. The Wampum Kandy Kids Junior Champs of the Beaver Valley and Lawrence county have accepted the challenge of the Lowellville aggregation to play a three-game series for the championship of the Eastern Ohio-Western Pennsylvania districts and will meet the Lowellville "5" in the first game on the Wampum floor on April 1st. The second game will be played at Lowellville and the third on a neutral floor if the third game is necessary.

Wampum: E. Boone, F. Burke, White, F. Shevitz, Demark, C. Worsenroft, G. Boone, G. Varley, Ferrucci, G. Coppola. Substitutions—Wampum, None. Lowellville, None.

Field goals—Wampum, E. Boone 3, White, G. Boone 2, Lowellville, Shevitz 2, Worsenroft 2, Coppola. Fouls—Wampum, E. Boone 1 out of 3, White 0 out of 2, G. Boone 1 out of 1, Lowellville, Shevitz 1 out of 6, Worsenroft 2 out of 3, Coppola 2 out of 4.

Two New Castle Players Picked On All-Star Team

(From Erie Dispatch-Herald) Testifying to the fact that New Castle high's victory in the class A division of the Lake Erie Tri-state tournament at East high last week was deserving and well merited is the Dispatch-Herald's all-tourney team in which two members of the titular Castle machine are selected.

The team was chosen after much deliberation by three members of the sports staff, who have seen every game in the tournament and therefore are in a position to make a selection. Here they are:

Class A. F.—Pryde, Meadville. F.—Ziegler, Franklin. G.—Alexander, New Castle. G.—Weber, Meadville. G.—N. Uram, New Castle.

Class B. F.—Andrews, Girard. F.—Perry, Cathedral. G.—Karl, Allegheny. G.—J. Soblop, Allegheny. G.—Froelich, Kanty.

Junior High. F.—Daye, Corry. F.—Rosenthal, Roosevelt. C.—Schreck, Wilson. G.—Johnson, Gridley. G.—Dickey, Academy.

Pryde, the deadly scoring ace of the Sharpville aggregation and who caused no end of trouble for the New Castle guards in the final game Saturday night, is paired with Ziegler of Franklin at forwards on the class A division team. Ziegler, although playing with a team that failed to go far, showed up in fine style and rated a place with Pryde.

Picking a man for the center post wasn't any easy job by any means, but by a process of elimination Alexander, sturdy New Castle boy, was finally selected. Such boys as Clary of Sharpville, Hillard of Kittanning and Hogan of Meadville played real basketball throughout the series, but Alexander looked a trifle better.

N. Uram was the other member of the championship Bridenbaugh clan to gain admittance to the first team, placing at guard. He showed himself to be a steady, reliable and thoroughly efficient chap and played an important part in the Castles' triumph. Weber of Meadville was placed beside Uram in the rear court.

Allegheny, N. Y., which noised out Girard in the finals of the class B series, placed Karl and J. Soblop on the all-star team. There should be no questioning Karl's fight to a position for, despite a painful boil on his neck, he played beautiful ball in both games.

Andrews, clever Girard forward, and Herb Perry of Cathedral were picked for the two forward positions and Froelich of Kanty at the other guard. It was just as hard to choose a team in class B as in class A, for there were any number of lads of practically even rating.

Five schools placed men on the junior high team, which indicates how evenly balanced the players were. Wilson won the championship in a walk, but only Schreck was picked for special honors. Daye and Rosenthal of Corry and Roosevelt were placed at forwards. Guard posts went to Johnson and Dickey of Gridley and Academy.

Ty Cobb says the best ball player is Babe Ruth. And the highest priced writer, too. Ty. Eighty thousand dollars for two words.

Risko Wins Nod From Campolo In New York Battle

Cleveland Baker Boy Out-punches Argentine Fighter To Take Decision

SMALL CROWD AT BENEFIT SHOW

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 25.—They were selling "Foreign Menace" short in the cauliflower mart today, following the monumental failure of Victorio Campolo, the Soaring Alp from the Argentine, to win last night from John Risko, a man who obviously was his inferior in everything save raw courage. Campolo did more than fail to win; he actually succeeded in losing the decision to the man who was almost thirty pounds lighter and some 7½ inches shorter. A verdict in which the referee, one judge and Mrs. Walsh's favorite son concurred.

Risko won because he had the bigger heart. That being an asset to which Campolo had no adequate rejoinder. All he had was the bigger feet.

Risko Looks Good
Some thought the decision was exemplary, others said it was a laundry ticket. But, right or wrong, Campolo didn't have a leg under him as far as prestige was concerned when the tenth round was over. They call him a foreign threat, yet with a big pull in the weights and with reach and brawn preponderantly in his favor, he refused to go to a man whose punch won't dent your derby.

Foreign Menace? It is to laugh. Dempsey might be so terrible that he can't walk down the block without suffering a nervous breakdown and still he would be too good for the Campolos of this world. The man simply wouldn't go on and win after almost knocking Risko out in the first three rounds. He did the same thing at Miami last month, so it must be congenial. The local boxing commission would have none of a Risko-Campolo match at the time, but, after what happened last night, it probably changed its mind. It probably suspects now that in prize fighting the size of the heart is more important than the size of the feet.

No Big Crowd
Incidentally, last night's event was the commission's own show, a benefit performance for the local cancer hospital, and it died pitifully in its own blood. There was less than 8,000 in the place at the pay-off and most of these sat up there on the ceiling in the two dollar chairs, apparently the golden days of pugilism in New York are definitely no more.

Apparently, too, the smart money isn't as intelligent as it used to be. It was sent in heavily on Campolo at 11 to 5, in the long run, everybody went for what they call "a bath," i. e., overboard.

At that, their money looked like an investment in treasury bonds when Campolo went out there and punched Risko dizzy in the first round. He dropped right hands into the ribs and on the jaw with great profusion, one of these staggering John near the end of the round. It looked then as though John was to finish the evening in deep repose. Instead, he kept fighting back and this in time disconcerted Victorio in a very marked manner.

Campolo Warned
He promptly resorted to the rabbit punch and, to those who thought he won, these punches doubtless went for points. But the referee, who warned Campolo a dozen times, saw them only in the light of demerits.

The Argentine punched his way through the second and third rounds to finish well in front and scored with a hard right counter to Risko's head in the fourth but by this time was beginning to regret the entire incident exceedingly and finished the round on the ropes with Risko laboring him, above and below, with great enthusiasm. This was the point at which the fight began to run against Campolo.

No longer brash, he began to discover that he had no particular fancy for even a punch as delicate as Risko's. He likewise discovered that he didn't like his own punch; that is, he threw the fist and then ran away from it.

This was all that Risko could ask. He piled into the foreigner and won the next three rounds on aggressiveness alone. With Campolo lashing out only semi-occasionally with those bruising rights of his.

When he lashed, he hurt. But somehow the fight was gone from him and he seemed to have no particular stomach for what ensued. Thus, he got no better than an even break on the eighth and blew the ninth. The final round was Campolo's by a great plenty and many thought this was enough to steal the decision. It wasn't.

Apparently, it is getting so these days that you can't even steal what you don't earn.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 25.—Punch and spirit, the inseparable success twins of baseball, are guests in the camp of the Chicago White Sox this spring for the first time in many years.

Punch has arrived through the medium of young, new talent of very promising ability. Spirit was brought into camp by Donie Bush, the new manager, a man of shrewd judgment who tolerates no nonsense and has the ability to acquire the respect of fractious athletes.

For years the Sox have lacked the punch and spirit as badly as they lacked the leadership of a man like Bush. Now that they have these three requisites it is easy to see a much rosier future for them. Discounting a lot of bad luck, the Sox should climb from seventh place this year and be in the fight for a far better berth.

By their play against the New York Giants in early exhibition games the Sox have shown that they are not the same team which failed to get anywhere for Ray Schalk and Lena Blackburn. Bush's immediate predecessors. And this goes for the veterans as well as the youngsters in camp.

The Way They Look

A costly infield which should pay dividends this year, a fine hurling staff still in the making, a young catching department and an outfield that has excellent promise comprise the Sox layout. The offensive side of play is less promising, though some of the rookies have hot batting reps built up in fast minor league competition. Last year Carl Reynolds, outfielder, led the Sox with a .317 mark. Johnny Watwood, an outfielder, and Art Shires, first baseman, were the only other .300 hitters on the team.

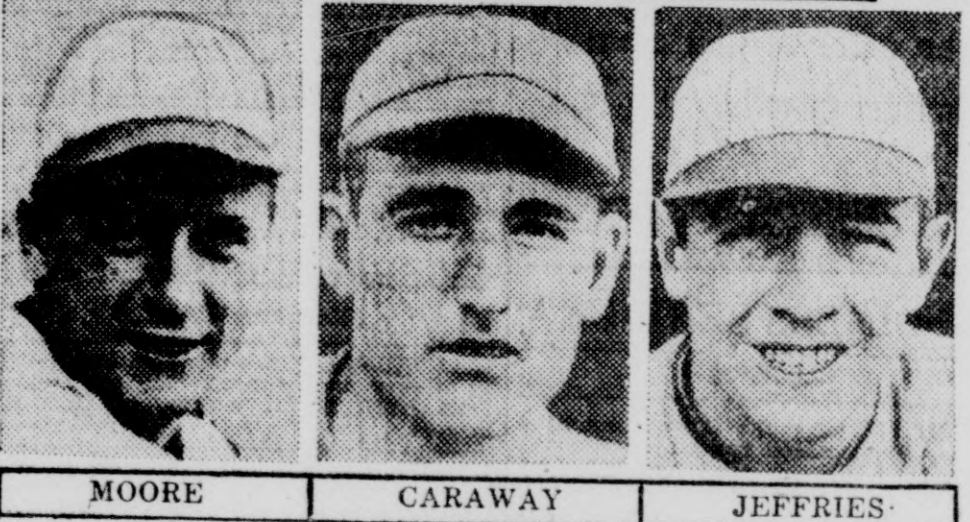

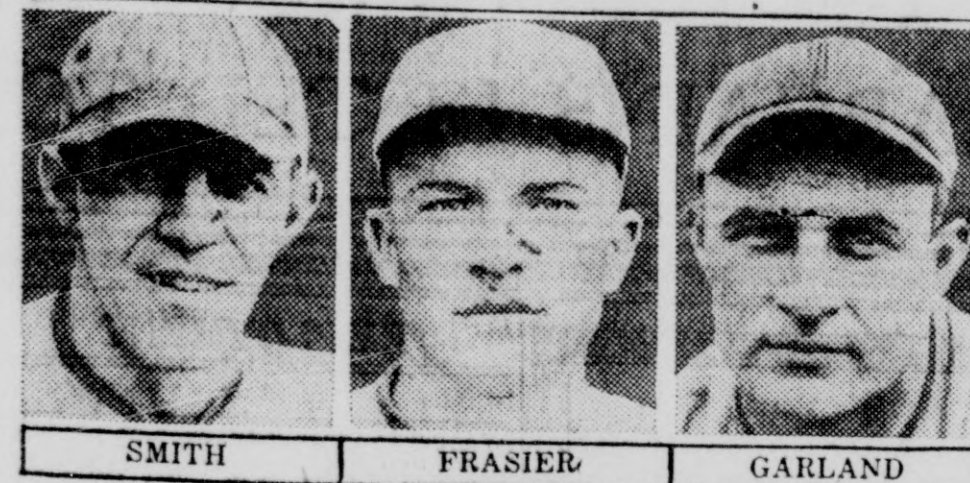

The make-up of the Sox infield is still uncertain. While Shires wrangled with the club ownership over salary and other details, Bush quickly developed Bud Clancy to cover the initial lack and he looks capable.

Chalmers Cissel, for whom the Sox paid more than $125,000, has been transferred from short to second with success. He seems a born second baseman.

Fight for Shortstop

Irving Jeffries, a rookie from Texas, looks like the best bet for shortstop, ousting Bill Hunnefeld, the veteran. Ernie Smith, from the Southern league, is also making a great bid for the post.

The costly Willie Kamm, now one of the oldest men on the team in point of service, should have no trouble proving himself at third.

Reynolds most probably will hold down center field for the Sox, with the highly touted, heavy hitting Smead Jolley, the Pacific Coast sensation, in right, and Jim Moore, another Texas find, alternating in left field with Watwood. Harris and Blakerby have also shown promise in camp and should prove capable reserves.

Moe Berg and Chick Autry can handle the catching assignments, with John Riddle, a likely looking receiver, on hand to help out.

On the Mound

The pitching staff is now built around the ancient Red Faber, still going strong, though rated "too old" to get a chance in a world series 12 years ago, and Ted Lyons and Al Thomas. However, these men may not remain the nucleus of the mound staff if some of the recruits prove to be as good as they look.

Vic Frasier, a Texas recruit, looks like the best of the new crop. Bush also has a couple of good looking southpaws on hand in Pat Caraway and Bob Weiland.

Young Ed Walsh seems due to take his place this season as a first-class regular and this may also go for Hal McKain. Other hurlers include the aging Grady Adkins, Lou Garland, a rookie from the Western league; Ted Blankenship, another veteran, and Dutch Henry, who couldn't quite make the grade with the Giants, but may find things to his liking in the American league.

This outfit doesn't look like championship caliber, but by no means are the White Sox the set-ups they were in 1929 and the years before.

Next: Cincinnati Reds.

Bessemer Faculty Loses To Union

Union High Women Faculty Members Take 21 To 7 Victory Over Bessemer

The Union High Women faculty basketball team handed a 21 to 7 defeat to Bessemer High Women faculty at the Union High floor on Monday night. The visitors were outclassed in all departments of play.

The score at the end of the first half was 8 to 5 in favor of Union. The fine playing of Dilley, Johnson, Rech and McCafferty featured for Union, with Reese, Smith and Griffin, best of the losers.

After the game a general good time was had by all the faculty members. Both men and women. Eleanor Winters was chairman of the affair and a delicious lunch was served. Each one of the faculty either answered to roll call with joke or a Scott story. This was a big feature of the evening.

The lineup:

Union H. Faculty 21 Bessemer Fac. 7
Dilley F. Reese
Rech F. F. McLaughlin
Johnson C. C. Smith
Stern SC. Pollock
Tucker G. Griffin
Shipe G. Landman
Subs: McCafferty, Field goals Rech 6, Johnson 2, McCafferty, Reese 2, Griffin, Pollock—Union: Dilley 2 out of 8, Rech 1 out of 5, Bessemer: Reese 1 out of 4, McLaughlin 0 out of 2. Referee—Patton.

MORE MEN THAN JOBS IN ELYRIA

ELYRIA, O., March 25.—Mayor James A. Hewitt, who last week set up a free employment agency of his own in an effort to help find work for some of the city's unemployed, was swamped today.

With 14 jobs open so far, the mayor had more than 80 applicants and found it necessary to issue an appeal to people of the city to offer as many odd jobs as possible.

Meanwhile the Willys-Overland plant here was calling back a number of its employees and reported that more will be employed gradually during the next few weeks.

The automobile plant is the largest in the city, employing approximately 2,200 men in normal times.

LORAIN, O., March 25.—The municipal employment bureau started by Mayor Paul J. Goldthorpe several days ago was in full operation today. One hundred applications for jobs were received today. Twelve were placed through the employment clearing house. Goldthorpe said.

WINNING REAL FRIENDS BY GIVING REAL SATISFACTION

There can be little doubt of the warm friendship that Oldsmobile and Viking owners accord their cars. For Oldsmobile and Viking owners are quick to express their satisfaction . . . always ready and eager to recommend Oldsmobile and Viking to their friends and neighbors.

Assuredly it takes more than mere close acquaintance with a motor car to build such loyalty. And both Oldsmobile and Viking have that "something more" in a measure above the ordinary. Brilliant performance—at high speeds or hard pulling—in every phase of motoring. Restful riding comfort and ease of control over every type of road. Continued economy that becomes more apparent as time goes on. Thoroughgoing dependability over the months and the miles.

These are the things that create friendship for Oldsmobile and Viking. These, plus the vitally important factor of honest value.

If you wish to learn more about the qualities of either of these two fine cars, inquire among your friends who drive them. Then come and see Oldsmobile and Viking yourself. Drive them and know what they can do. Prove to your personal satisfaction that each is a great car—a real value—at its price.

Seven Members Of Titan Team Win Varsity Awards For Season

Harold Glenn, New Castle, Made Student Manager Next Season

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 25.—Seven members of the championship Westminster College basketball team were given varsity letters by the faculty committee on athletics, two student managers were given letters, and the student manager for the 1931 season was appointed.

Among those who received letters were three great stars who played their fourth and last year for Westminster. They are: Captain Glenn O'Donovan, Pittsburgh; Kenneth Delahunt, Indiana, and William Crowell, Sharon. The award was Crowell's fourth in the career, while it was the third for O'Donovan and Delahunt, both of whom enrolled at the start of the second semester four years ago.

Others who won letters were: Captain-elect Philip Rice, Duquesne; Harry Brownlee, Lock Haven; Marshall Fisher, Boardman, O.; and Daniel Considine, Akron, O. Rice, Fisher and Brownlee each had won a varsity letter previously in basketball, while Considine, a freshman, qualified in his first year of competition. Student managers Wilson Botsford and Stephen Fraser, both of Pittsburgh, were honored with varsity letters. Harold Glenn, New Castle, a member of the junior class, was appointed student manager of the varsity team of 1931. Glenn is a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity. He is a well-known graduate of New Castle high school.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 25.—Idle yesterday when rain washed out the game with the Toronto Maple Leafs, the Yankees were to get action today, playing the final of the series with the Boston Braves. SAN ANTONIO, March 25.—There was great rejoicing in the Giants' camp today for John McGraw's charges at last won a ball game. They defeated the San Antonio Indians 3 to 1 in an exhibition game yesterday. However, it was to be noted the Indians outbait the Giants, getting ten safeties to the Nationals' eight.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 25.—That Babe Herman, the big holdout man from Brooklyn, who demanded $18,000 per year and was offered $15,000, has decided to relent was the big news in Robinsland today. It was said Herman had indicated he was ready to report immediately and he is expected to be with the Robins for the week from today.

Dividend Paying Stocks Are Forced Up By Buying

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 25.—A rush to buy the better grade of industrial dividend-payers in the early trading today forced up prices of U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, General Electric, Union Carbide and other active favorites. Trading was so heavy in the first thirty minutes that only half of the current sales could be reported on the tape, the ticker having fallen behind 16 minutes in that period.

U. S. Steel and Standard Oil of New Jersey again distinguished themselves by forging ahead into new high price ground, the former above 193 and the latter at 71 1/2. Stocks of the motion picture companies moved ahead brilliantly, with Paramount at 75 1/2 and Warner Brothers close to 79. The food stocks struck a snag which forced General Foods, Good Dust and Standard Brands down about a point, and Montgomery Ward was again under pressure. Bethlehem Steel, Crucible and Vanadium sold up more than a point on the average. Stocks of the airplane companies were also in demand, with Curtiss Wright in the lower-priced class, a point higher.

The shorts in Vanadium were given another squeeze when the stock was rushed up another 3 1/2 points to 122 1/2. Kelvator and Servel continued the upward move which is based on the probability of a merger. Powerful railroad interests were also reported "buying into" Wabash, Western Maryland, Chicago and East Illinois, etc. which accounts for the strength and activity of the non-dividend rails.

Call money was unchanged at 4 per cent.

Wilmington Have Social Evening

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 25.—The Hi-Y and the Tri-Y clubs of the New Wilmington high school held a banquet in the United Presbyterian church on Monday evening. About sixty were present including the teachers, Prof. F. Walt Whitman, principal of the high school and Rev. J. Ralph Neale, pastor of the U. P. church.

The speaker of the evening was Charles T. McNary of the Pittsburgh Y. M. C. A. bureau of vocations. He spoke on "Vocations" and the value of the help that could be given to the "Y" through the high school organizations. Remarks were also made by Mr. Whitman and Rev. J. Ralph Neale.

The banquet was served by the Ladies' Missionary society of the church and the tables were tastefully decorated in blue and gold, the high school colors. The entire meal was tastefully served.

The banquet was the first of the social functions to be given by the local club. Since their organization, early in November, membership has grown from a very few to over sixty.

Dogs Cause Many Police Complaints

Owners Are Warned To Keep Them Tied Up In The Future

Dogs are the cause of the greater number of complaints being registered with the city police at this time. The complaints against dogs allowed to run at large and destroy the property of others are the most numerous. Owners of dogs are being warned to keep their dogs tied up or on their own property, otherwise they may have occasion to regret that they did not do so, either in the paying of a fine or losing their animal, through some cause or other.

Rainstorm Causes Kaye Don To Call Off Speed Attempt

(International News Service)
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 25.—A heavy downpour of rain which ruined visibility caused Kaye Don to abandon his attempt at the automobile speed record which he intended to make today. Beach conditions continued favorable.

W. F. Sturm, Don's American manager, stated the attempt was definitely off until a northeast storm put the beach in condition which would last for three or four days so Don might await good visibility.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Father, behold us with Thine eyes, whose power is love, and cause our innermost selves to have dominion over our outermost selves. We are so unworthy; we are so poor in the things in which Thou desirest us to be rich that we deserve Thy reproach. Take our whole natures and inspire them to follow Thee in all earnestness and devotion. If any are burdened with discouragement, sustain them. We thank Thee that the infinite heart, which is sovereign over all things in heaven above and in the earth beneath, loves us, even unto our weakness and affliction, and will help us carry our burdens unto the end. Through Christ our Saviour. Amen.

The general health outside of this was comparatively good, four cases

Mother's Night Observed At Central Christian Church

The opening night's service of the second week of the Pentecost campaign at the Central Christian church was the largest attended of any of the services to the present time. When the time had arrived for the beginning of the evening service, all of the lower floors were filled and the crowd was rapidly filling the balcony.

During the opening service, Evangelist Small presented a little flower token to the oldest mother, Mrs. Sophia Zeigler who is 77 years old.

Mrs. William Evans received a box of flowers for having the largest number of children present and Mrs.

Cora Heath, the youngest mother having the youngest baby, also received a box of flowers.

The sermon of the evening was based upon the words of Jesus as He hung upon the cross when He addressed John and said "Behold thy mother." From this appealing sentence, the evangelist was able to produce many helpful and appropriate suggestions in his appeal to the mother's place in the world and how she could set worthy examples before her children. When the invitation was sung three young people confessed their faith in Jesus Christ after which the ordinance of baptism was administered to a large number of candidates.

Tonight is young peoples' night and a special program has been prepared for the evening's service. Services every night this week beginning promptly at 7:30.

Puts Bus Lines Under I. C. C. Rule

House Bill For Interstate Traffic Control Goes To Senate

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The first act by congress to place interstate motor bus traffic under government regulation came Monday with passage by the house of the Parker bill to give the Interstate Commerce Commission jurisdiction over the motor carriers.

The final vote was 215 to 118, after a motion to send the measure back to the interstate commerce committee for amendment was rejected by 236 to 104. It now goes to the senate.

Approval followed a week of debate in which the opposition, led by Representative Rankin of Mississippi and Huddleston, Alabama, Democrats, contended there was no need for such legislation. They held the various states already had ample power to provide the necessary regulation of the carriers.

In addition to regulatory powers over rates and schedules, the federal commission, with the aid of joint boards composed of representatives of states involved, would be required to pass on applications for certificates of necessity and public convenience, which the bus operators would be called upon to secure. The bus operators also would be compelled to carry surety bonds for the protection of the traveling public.

A final vote was reached late Saturday at the conclusion of debate but Rankin raised a parliamentary question which delayed passage until yesterday. The last moves of the opposition were demands for roll call both on the motion to recommit and on final passage.
